Chester Council Plans $6 'Head Tax'

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT. "Please, can I have him" is the question asked by 16-month-old Kimberly Ann Taylor, an early visitor to the new plush quarters of the Animal Rescue League in Pittsburgh. As far as Kimberly was concerned it was love at first sight and the puppy seems to agree. (UPI Telephoto)

A $6-a-year assessment levy on Chester residents to provide additional operating funds was ordered prepared for legislation by Council Tuesday night.

The proposed levy would provide money for street projects, the City Park and possibly a third police officer.

A motion to have the measure prepared for consideration by Council at meetings later this week or next week was made by Councilman Donald Chaney, chairman of the finance committee. It passed by a 3-to-2 vote.

THE LEVY — which would be only the second in the city's history — would apply to all residents over 21, except persons receiving aid under the public assistance law of West Virginia.

Ostensibly, the money from the levy would be designated for the fire department, street lighting, City Park and the police department. However, with the exception of the City Park share, the money for the other three purposes would not actually represent increased revenue.

Funds for the fire department, street lighting and the police department customarily allotted under the budget would be freed for transfer to other purposes, apparently largely for street improvements.

Technically, special assessment levies are not permitted directly for street projects, one councilman said, so the transfer system would be utilized under the new levy plan.

Of the $6 obtained from each resident by the levy, which is not to exceed three years, 75 cents would be designated for the fire department, 75 cents for the City Park, $1.50 for improved street lighting and $3 for the police department.

"WE NEED money," Chaney said in introducing the subject of the levy which had been aired last week at a meeting of the finance committee and other councilmen and city officials. "And I am going to stick my neck out in submitting a motion for a $6 levy."

In the subsequent vote, the motion was supported by Councilmen Chaney, Wayne Hutton and Carl Graham. Councilmen Donald Hissam and Charles Kology were opposed.

Hissam asked, "How are you going to collect it?" Council authorized a 50-cent-a-month levy in 1958-59 to provide funds needed for a new fire truck.

Kology said he believes "it is up to the people to vote for what they want and not by action of Council".

"People have the right to petition the action taken by Council," Hutton said, adding, "It would be unfair to put a 2- or 3-mill levy on property owners only."

IT WAS explained the ordinance would bring in about $12,000 annually.

Discussion was held on the number of persons required to sign a petition for a referendum vote. However, City Solicitor

Ruth Cox Turner was absent and the information was not obtained.

The problem of financial need was aired at last week's committee meeting when discussion was held on the recent Hancock County real estate reappraisal which has been rejected. Additional funds for Chester anticipated under the reappraisal consequently are not available for 1963.

At the request of Hutton, Council unanimously approved an ordinance to increase the sales tax designation on liquor sales in the city from 2 cents to 3 cents to conform with the recent change in the West Virginia law.

City Clerk Roy Cashdollar told Council that Atty. Don Donel of Weirton, administrator for an un-

Kennedy Receives Latin Leaders' Plea For Aid

Declaration Adopted By 7 Nations

Cites Confidence Regime Of Castro Will Tumble Soon

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Cheered by a U.S. pledge to protect their coasts against Cuban infiltrators, six Central American chief executives make individual pleas to President Kennedy today for economic aid to better the lot of their peoples.

Although advocates of drastic action against Fidel Castro lost out, the Latin presidents generally seemed satisfied and joined Kennedy in a seven-nation "Declaration of Central America" which expressed confidence that the Castro regime will fall soon.

Kennedy promised that the United States will tighten its anti-subversion ring around Cuba with more plane and ship protection of Central America's Caribbean coast.

An authoritative source said that Kennedy, in the private sessions Tuesday, impressed the presidents of Panama, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras and Nicaragua with the extent of U.S. military commitments—short of "shooting at Cuba"—which he revealed to them.

Kennedy also promised multi-million-dollar aid for their program of regional economic and social development. But each president had pet projects of his own and each was allotted a half hour today to plug them.

Kennedy scheduled talks with Francisco Orlich of Costa Rica, Julio Rivera of El Salvador, Miguel Ydigoras of Guatemala, Ramon Villeda Morales of Honduras, Luis Somoza of Nicaragua and Roberto Chari of Panama.

U.S. PRESIDENT John F. Kennedy smiles at the enthusiastic welcome of the people as he toured the El Bosque housing development Tuesday in San Jose, Costa Rica. Kennedy termed the housing project, built by Costa Ricans with Alliance help and designed to shelter 8,000 persons when completed next October, a monument to courage that will determine "the faith of freedom in this hemisphere." Swollen Ohio May Hit Area Flood Stage

Clearing Skies And Cold Snap To Cut 32-33-Foot Crest

The surging Ohio River, swollen by heavy rains on the tributaries, may crest at or slightly above flood stage in East Liverpool by early Thursday morning. But there will be no damage.

Vernon Houghton, U. S. flood forecaster at Pittsburgh, said this area will get 32 to 33 feet although clearing skies and a prediction of a cold snap tonight may reduce the anticipated high water. The district got about 31 feet March 6.

Based on the currently predicted crest, East Liverpool anticipates little difficulty from high water. Safety - Service Director Robert Owen said today.

A 32-foot stage would close the River Rd. at Ralston's Crossing by water backing up in a small stream that flows underneath the highway at that point, Owen pointed out.

The anticipated crest would cause only minor flooding in the city's two low-lying residential areas — Little England and Jethro.

Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin said a 32-foot stage probably would cause the river to invade the cellar.

Mr. Betz had been in failing health since suffering a stroke months ago. But he rallied from the illness and continued in his position with the dinnerware manufacturer's organization, reporting regularly to his office on E. 4th St. He was admitted to the hospital Feb. 23 after his condition worsened.

At the USPA's annual meeting in December at Pittsburgh, Mr. Betz was elected to his 22nd year as secretary-treasurer.

Council Eyes Water Board For Wellsville

Commission Would Also Operate City Sewage Service

Wellsville Council Tuesday night took under consideration a proposal that a water or utilities commission be established to operate the city's water and sewage departments.

The proposal was made by Councilman Donald Miller, finance chairman, who reported the city is holding back bills totaling $29,000 in the water department.

He said this has accumulated over a period of years. He urged the problem be studied and then suggested some type of committee or commission be established to operate the department.

"This would take it out of politics," he commented. He also pointed out the sewage department is owed $28,000 by residents.

The refuse department is $8,000 in the red. All these figures were provided by the state examiner, Miller said.

He said that if a board or commission was operating the water department, an individual could not say "I voted for you," to the mayor, "so how about carrying me for another six months." Miller said this covered both Democracy and Republicanism.

Office Ordered Padlocked

Hancock Assessor Quits And Staff Of 16 Dismissed

By CHARLES CRONIN

Hancock County was without an assessor today, following the resignation of Anthony (Tony) Leon Tuesday afternoon and the dismissal of his entire staff last night by county commissioners.

Meeting briefly in the County Courthouse in New Cumberland last night, commissioners accepted Leon's resignation without comment, ordered the assessor's office closed and padlocked, and fired 16 persons connected with the office.

THEY adjourned until tonight at 7 when appointment of a new assessor will be considered, and a plan of action outlined for bringing assessments on property up to 50 per cent of the appraisal value as directed in a letter received yesterday from State Tax Commissioner G. Thomas Battle in Charleston.

Battle's letter received Tuesday day "disapproved" last month's action by County Court in directing Leon to use the 1962 appraisal figures in compiling taxes for 1963, and rejecting a new property reappraisal program completed by Cole, Layer & Trumble of Dayton.

Battle directed County Court and the assessor to comply with a section of the state code requiring taxes to be figured on 50 per cent of the appraisal value.

LEON said Battle's letter influenced his decision to resign, although the fact that he is seeking the Democratic nomination for mayor of Weirton in the city's primary May 7 probably had some bearing, observers said.

On Tuesday, Leon withdrew his candidacy in the primary, resigned as assessor at 12:04 p. m. and then re-entered the Weirton municipal primary as a candidate for mayor.

Leon had initially entered Weirton's primary Feb. 3 but was informed later by the city clerk

Boy Injured As He Dashes Into Car Path

A 7-year-old East Liverpool boy was injured slightly Tuesday afternoon at 3:42 when he dashed into the path of an auto on W. 3rd St. about 50 feet east of Jackson St., police reported.

John W. Wright, son of Charles Wright, 117 Market St., escaped with a bump on the head when struck by a 1953 two-door sedan operated by Richard E. Taubert, 18, of 625 Owens Rd., Wellsville, police said. The child was released after examinations at City Hospital.

Patrolmen Paul Blevins and William A. Devon, who investigated, said three witnesses joined the young motorist in asserting that the mishap was unavoidable because the boy ran behind a parked auto into the street.

Taubert said he was driving east

Motions for dismissal and consolidation of counts in indictments entered by 13 defendants charged with conducting a gambling operation at the Jockey Club were denied Tuesday in U. S. District Court at Wheeling.

Judge Charles F. Paul Jr. also denied motions of the defendants for election and for severance between a conspiracy charge and subsequent charges set forth in the indictments.

The motions were submitted by counsel for the defendants. Eight are named in one indictment and five in the other. The eight are charged with eight violations, the others one.

Balloting In November

Southern Local Vote Due In School Merger Dispute

LISBON — The Columbiana County Board of Education Tuesday night formally authorized a vote throughout Southern Local School District next November on a proposed merger of the Franklin area with Carroll County schools.

The action stemmed from a Common Pleas Court ruling which grew out of the merger issue in Franklin which two years ago was consolidated with Southern Local.

Some residents of Franklin had sought a merger with two Carroll districts to form a new school area instead of consolidating with Southern Local. This group, headed by Fred Johnson of Summitville, had wanted an independent vote within Franklin.

However, following the county board's merger of the two districts, Judge Raymond S. Buzzard ruled the vote should be throughout Southern Local, and the 7th District Court of Appeals recently upheld Judge Buzzard's ruling.

Because there is no primary election slated for Southern Local in May, the board acted to place the issue on the November general election ballot.

The special vote, which will cost the district $1,250, will come as Southern Local opens a new high school east of Salineville.

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw pointed out the election has been ordered by court and must be held, despite the changes in Southern Local to accommodate the Franklin addition and despite the fact that the two rural Carroll districts have since joined the Carrollton School District.

In other business, the board recommended the following school calendar for the 1963-64 term:

Sept. 4, beginning of school; Nov. 28-29, Thanksgiving vacation; Dec. 20 - Jan. 6, Christmas vacation; March 26-30, Easter vacation.

crat and Republican administrations.

Council decided to meet April 3 to further discuss the proposal.

Mrs. Mary Rahter, Council president, said she hadn't looked at it as a political issue. The problem is the collection, she said.

Mayor William Daugherty spoke from the audience and said he believes the idea of a utilities commission is excellent. Mrs. Rahter said she does not believe three individuals could be found who would serve on such a group without pay.

She also said the director (Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare) has made arrangements with some individuals to pay on their delinquent water bills.

"We also might consider a good collection agency," Mrs. Rahter said.

Councilman William Stroble said "it would be hard to turn off the water at a home with three or four children in which the father is out of work, and this is what we are getting at."

Miller commented "I can see your point, but this is a business."

At one point Miller pointed out the city is considering installing a new water line on Buckeye Ave. to alleviate a low pressure area.

"Four families on Buckeye owe over $600 in back water bills. This would almost pay for the new line," Miller said.

Councilman Frank DeLorenzo suggested the entire Council study the proposal. "If it is placed in a committee, it might just die," he said.

Council then agreed to meet Wednesday, April 3, the day after the next regular meeting.

The Rhodes Austerity Program

The figures in Gov. Rhodes' "rock bottom" budget are interesting—if you can pin them down—but not half as interesting as the proposition built into the budget message.

The proposition is that Ohio is paring its spending to the core with a two-year budget so close to $2 billion it might run a little over—$1.28 billion for the general fund, $768 million in highway funds.

The proposition is that this represents a drastic cutback, though it is in fact $53 million more than was spent in the last two years of the DiSalle administration.

And also built into the proposition is the claim if it hadn't been for the last two years of the DiSalle administration the first two years of the Rhodes administration would be easy because there would be no hang-over obligations to pay. This is the key to the governor's program—this claim of hang-over indebtedness.

OHIOANS want to believe the Rhodes administration intends to go all the way with an austerity program. This is not a partisan position. Republican and Democratic taxpayers are enthusiastic about trimming the fat off state government.

The catch is they are enthusiastic about trimming the other fellow's fat, not theirs. They want no austerity for the state university they attended, no "rock-bottom" economy for the highway they are building, no cutback on personnel in the state department where their relatives work, no fund-parring for the public schools drawing state aid in their communities.

The Rhodes administration is getting more attention than other state government in the United States for its retrenchment program—7,000 state employees dropped, a 9.1 per cent cut in departmental budgets, cuts in welfare and relief programs to force administrators to tighten relief rolls.

Everything Gov. Rhodes has said and done has made it plain he considers money management to be the mainspring of the success he hopes to have with his program for shrinking government while expending private enterprise.

He regards this as his prime political commitment. It is completely opposite to the tack taken by the DiSalle administration, which nagged the General Assembly and Ohio taxpayers for being niggardly and unprogressive.

YET, THERE is the suspicion of a doubt about the ultimate success of the Rhodes approach.

Gov. Rhodes, will be in office four years. It remains to be seen whether his theme of austerity and no new taxes can be maintained.

Ohioans are hoping for the best, but what will happen if their pet spending projects got nipped?

That would be the bite test for austerity.

Ripe For Communist Picking

The seeds of Communist disorder in Latin America never were sown in more receptive soil.

President Kennedy's visit to Costa Rica for conferences with Central American leaders puts the problem in a nutshell. It is whether a visiting dignitary can be protected from the consequences of Communist influence.

As vice president of the United States, Richard Nixon felt the savage wrath of Communist mobs in Latin America. Dwight Eisenhower had to be protected in special ways to keep him from undergoing the indignities that Communist troublemakers had prepared for him—the same kind which caused a visit to Japan to be cancelled.

In Central America, in Cuba, in South America—everywhere in Latin America—there is potential trouble among people who have nothing to lose and everything to gain, as they see it, by following revolutionary leadership.

THEY HAVE no reason to trust the moderate leadership of the past, which gave them nothing but their poverty. The moderate leadership of the present can give them nothing but promises of relieving poverty. But the immoderate leadership of the present gives them a chance to show their resentment.

This is the soil in which Communist subversionists, some of them newly trained in Havana, will sow the seeds of disorder.

Once they have discredited moderation, they stand a good chance of taking over the countries they would like to control. It is as if they were exposing people with no immunity to some dread disease.

Latin America has nothing to gain from Communism. But it has nothing to lose from this thing that presents itself as the opposite of capitalism; it gained nothing from capitalism, either.

LATIN AMERICANS have known no freedom other than that they were granted by depots under varying names.

This is the problem the United States faces when it tells them to believe in the Alliance for Progress, in the Organization of American States and the Free World's side in the great ideological conflict with absolutism.

Latin Americans have known little else but absolutism and poverty under the domination of the people who now warn them what is in store if they yield to Communist subversion.

How Goes The Economy Drive?

The scene is the U.S. Senate, where key decisions must be made about trimming the Kennedy budget if it is going to be trimmed.

The hour is growing late. There has been a delay, due to a clash of opinion about spending the people's money.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., was waging his annual battle to save some of the people's money he said would be frittered away on Senate investigations and special activities.

The sum he was hoping to save was piddling compared with the $98.8-billion budget proposed by the Kennedy administration—a few hundred thousand dollars, perhaps. But he was fighting for a principle.

He hoped to prove the Senate could set an example by lopping off spending he said had no purpose other than the self-aggrandizement of senators who itched to call attention to themselves by running investigations.

He failed. The Senate whooped through what it never had any intention of cutting.

This has been the history of economy drives in Congress.

This is why we speak of these drives as being like attempts to make rabbits swear off lettuce.

Politicians live on spending. They use public money the way a seal trainer uses bits of fish—to make taxpayers think they are having fun doing what the politicians want them to do.

It becomes a conditioned reflex. For one more hunk of fish, taxpayers pay up and shut up.

Sen. Lausche watched Sen. Ellender take his lumps on the proposal to save a little money. "If we do not have enough nerve to cut these expenditures," he said sadly, "we should throw overboard any boast we may make about any contemplated cut in the budget. We cannot treat the Kennedy administration any differently than we proposed to treat ourselves."

Amen. When rabbits quit eating lettuce, Congress will quit consuming America.

The Little Guy

The first coach I admired was about this high and this wide and on top of being pint-sized wore glasses. I would have died for that funny little guy if he had given the word.

Coming after a coach neither I nor anyone else admired, feeling like this was a revelation to all of us. Subsequently, I saw a few more coaches and heard and read about a lot of them.

No one ever came close to the little guy. He may not have been the greatest technician of his trade—in fact he must have been mediocre or he wouldn't have had anything to do with our raggedy school—but for my money was a masterful preceptor.

I became acquainted with coaches who were "nice guys," men you wanted to be friends with. I knew one who had been an outstanding athlete in his time and had a coaching job for that reason only; he was no teacher.

I remember two who were bums. They looked like bums, acted like bums and thought like bums. Letting them have anything to do with boys was an affront to good educational practice.

I knew one coach who had no control of his temper. He had no more poise than a chicken in a windstorm. Atop this fault, he was cursed with a dirty mouth and a weasel brain.

And from the great Knute Rockne, who was a living legend at the time, down to the lowliest of the coaches, one truth stuck out like a wart on the tip of a girl's nose.

To be a coach is to be entrusted with the lifelong attitudes of the impressionable boys and young men who have been placed in your care. Believe it or not, like it or not, coaches do build character.

It's important that they build it right. It isn't a good job when kids pocket crooked money because that seems to be a way of life in the athletic setup that surrounded them.

Character-building is out of plumb when a coach gives his charges the impression no one in this world is expected to lose as well as to win like a gentleman, or that he doesn't even know what a gentleman would do.

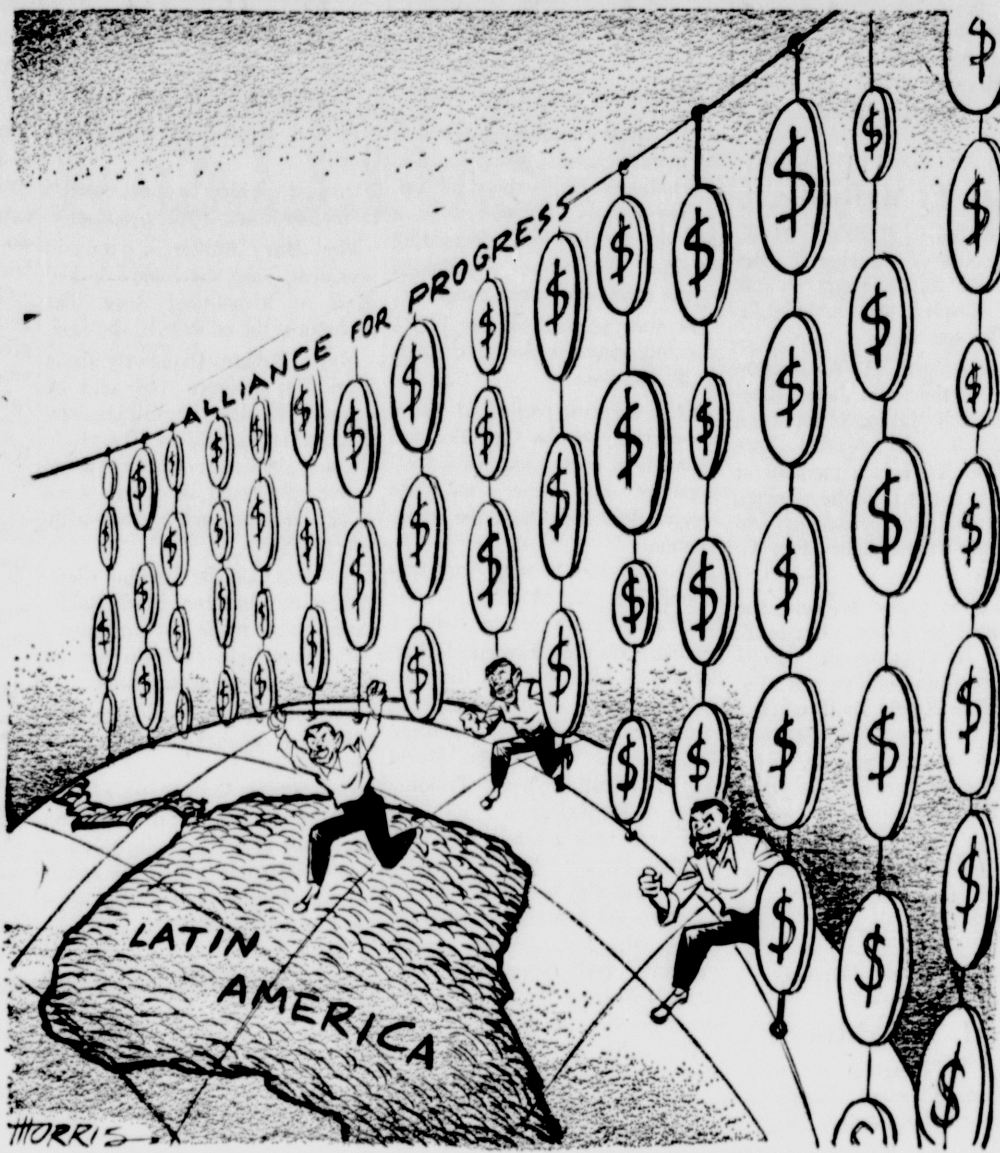

It's a raw deal for any kid being prepared to take his place in the world to learn from a coach that the Leo (Lappy) Durocher attitude of putting the umpire on the spot and sending the nice guys to the showers first is the going practice in sports.

And something isn't on the square if a kid learns from his coach that victory at any price is a bargain, even if the price includes mayhem.

Fortunately, most coaches are aware of their responsibility. Most colleges these days look for teachers and gentlemen to put in charge of the young men who have been put in their charge.

Even high schools, where coaching is a sometime thing and school boards can't afford to be choosy, are not above expecting coaches to prove that when character was being built in their time they were not sitting in the stands with the undisciplined gillies who scream at officials and make a holy show of their unpreparedness for living in decent society.

Silver Curtain Seems A Bit Porous

Invisible Blockade Cripples Cuba

By Victor Riesel

There is a blockade of Cuba—an invisible blockade. It is run by a tiny, unknown industrial counterintelligence "force" of 35 men described to me as "global detectives."

They are concentrated in New York and Washington. Those who can be spared roam the U.S. ports on the Gulf of Mexico. Some keep such foreign ports as Antwerp under surveillance and even docks in distant Asia. As small a group as they are, they're strangling Cuba from the inside. The noose is loose. If we beelied up this band, our government could pull the garrote tighter more swiftly.

They operate at a cost of little more than $1 million a year—and are costing Castro's government hundreds of millions of dollars. Last year alone they kept $48.9 million worth of strategic material from going to the Communists.

These men are the investigation section of Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges' Bureau of International Commerce, which has the power to withhold licenses for exports from the United States. Its policies are set by an unpublicized cabinet-level decision-making group.

ON THIS SIT high representatives of the Central Intelligence Agency, the Defense and State departments. So carefully does the entire operation work, and so authoritative is it, that it actually, quietly, screened all the medicines and food supplies used for ransoming the Bay of Pigs prisoners. Without the bureau's approval there could have been no exchange—unless President Kennedy personally interceded.

This invisible blockade has particularly disturbed the Sino-Soviet-Cuban axis because we have been intercepting the shipments of spare parts to the island satellite. Before Castro, the Cubans never stockpiled the spares. They did not have to. They simply ordered from the "mainland" and had the material in a few days for their industrial machinery—virtually all of which is from the United States.

After seizing about a billion dollars worth of U.S. property, Castro soon was in critical need of parts running literally up in the millions of pieces.

THERE IS NO MORE graphic report on this need than that issued to his superiors by Deputy Transportation Minister Jose Miguel Espino on Feb. 22. I got wind of this in the Southwest a day later.

"The (Cuban) Consolidated Automotive Enterprise," Espino revealed, "is considering establishing a series of units for the manufacture of replacement parts by the assembly-line method. This will give the imperialist blockade against our transportation a harder fight."

"The vehicle inventory available to us is very heterogeneous. There are more than 50 different makes in Cuba. Each vehicle requires several thousand parts."

"We have performed only 1,518 achievements in replacement part production and rebuilding. Therefore, we are very far from resolving the transportation difficulties in our fatherland. We are, however, on the way because we are producing alloys, and heat treating metals, looking toward programming parts production and rebuilding."

"But it will take years to definitely achieve the production which transportation requires."

MEANWHILE, car and bus transportation, not only inside the cities but to the vital sugar cane fields, is in such chaos that the government is putting wooden benches on truck bodies to convert them into buses for "mass transportation."

Such improvisation and such immediate need for operative spare parts has hit all industries. Nor is it a simple matter for the Sino-Soviet "protectors" to rush in supplies.

The Communist Chinese just don't have them. The Soviet parts are of different "tolerance" and metric measure.

So the Sino-Soviet bloc can resort to one of three stratagems: It can use false front purchasing agencies in Sweden, Belgium, Mexico and other free lands to buy spare parts in the United States and transship them to Cuba. Or it can create a small spare parts industry in East Europe to duplicate U.S. spare parts. Or it can build entirely new factories in Cuba.

Obviously the first artifice is the swiftest. And that's where our Commerce Department "globetrotters" come in.

THEY WATCH for any foreign influx of spare parts orders in the United States. They would indeed be helped if American firms would report swiftly to them any such bids. The bureau men also watch for the purchase here of sugar mill equipment, oil refinery parts, electronic tubes and even the export of "know-how" in the form of blueprints and technical data.

A thousand men would make a real blockade—without touching off any firing war. Our 35 global detectives are truly global—they also keep watch over the Soviets and Communist China.

New Lives

Since India said "Good Night, Sweet Prince" to its potentates, many have awakened to useful new lives as ordinary rich people.

Of the nearly 600 princely realms existing when British rule ended in 1947, none retains its identity as a separate state in the present-day Republic of India, the National Geographic Society says. Incomes and powers of the maharajas, rajas and nawabs have been drastically curtailed. The royal allowances will be cut again by half each generation.

Even the Nizam of Hyderabad, whose very name conjures up fantasies of unbelievable wealth, pleads austerity. The Nizam gave only $42,000 to India's recent defense fund drive, and said he was too poor to donate more. As a joke, for he is known to be a tight man with a rupee, Bombay citizens organized a Nizam Relief Committee "to rally to his aid."

Many of the princes, whose word was once law to 91 million Indians, have gone into government, diplomatic service, business and the professions. One maharaja manufactures soft drinks. Another who turned big-game hunter conducts tourists on tiger hunts for big fees.

Realistic Appraisal

By David Lawrence

House Committee Studies Cuba Problem

Members of Congress of both parties have for months expressed serious concern over the possibility of open military aggression by Communist forces against the nations of this hemisphere. A realistic appraisal of the present situation and a recommendation as to what should be done have just come in a unanimous report from the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives. All nine members of the subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs—both Republicans and Democrats—signed the report.

The committee findings are that, even though the Castro Communist forces in Cuba are incapable without outside assistance of successfully mounting an "offensive" blow, this "does not minimize the Communist threat to inter-American security."

The committee then says bluntly that "no plan for collective action against Communist subversive aggression has been put into effect" by the countries of the hemisphere.

The report points out that, because no clear and unified hemispheric policy dealing with the Castro Communist subversion has been developed, some of the members of the Organization of American States "have not devised effective internal methods of controlling subversive traffic in and through their territories."

IT IS ASSERTED emphatically that Cuba's dependence on the Soviet Union is complete and that the regime "is in fact controlled and operated by trained professional agents from the Soviet bloc." The House subcommittee report states flatly that "the Soviet Union must be held accountable for such subversive aggression in the Americas."

It adds that the "violent overthrow of existing governments remains the unified aim of Communist forces in Latin America," which include both the "Soviet and Chinese branches of international communism."

But what to do about it? The subcommittee makes four principal recommendations, as follows:

1. In accord with the joint resolution of Congress, Oct. 3, 1962, Section (A), immediate steps should be taken by the United States "to prevent by whatever means may be necessary, including the use of arms, the Marxist-Leninist regime in Cuba from extending, by force or the threat of force, its aggressive or subversive activities to any part of the hemisphere."

"2. The United States should be prepared to act with military force, if needed, in response to the request for help and assistance of any nation of the hemisphere in danger of being overthrown by Castro Communist subversive aggression. This recommendation is in no way to be considered as a substitute for or a bar to unilateral action by the United States in defense of its own security.

"3. Every effort must be made by the United States to assure collective action by the Organization of American States, and by OAS member states individually, toward the curbing of Castro Communist subversive activities and traffic in the hemisphere."

"4. The United States should seek the complete diplomatic and economic quarantine of Communist Cuba by other nations of the hemisphere."

Recommendations of a House committee are influential but do not necessarily mean concurrence by the executive branch of the government. But it is significant that members of Congress are setting forth explicitly what they think should be done in Latin America. They have, in fact, stated in much more vigorous terms what American policy should be than has either the White House or the State Department.

THE REPORT SHOWS a sympathetic attitude by the committee's members toward economic aid for Latin America, but it is clear they feel that this will not solve the problems of the hemisphere unless stern measures are taken to eliminate the threat of Cuban-based subversive aggression.

There are indications that the Latin American governments themselves are under heavy internal pressure from radical groups, some of which are not unsympathetic to the Communists, and that this is complicating the whole problem of collective action in the hemisphere.

The Soviets have spent hundreds of millions of dollars not only to supply funds, guidance and technical assistance to train guerrillas and terrorists brought into Cuba from throughout Latin America, but to infiltrate organizations in various countries.

They are leaving no stone unturned to gain a political following inside the countries of the hemisphere. Many organizations are infiltrated by Communists, and the majority of the members are not aware of this underground activity.

The whole Latin-American problem is becoming more and more complicated, largely because the United States has not acted decisively and forcefully in dealing with the Communist base established under the Castro regime in Cuba.

Sicily Makes Progress

Mafia Attempts To Curb Development

PALERMO

The Mafia, the legendary criminal underground whose dead hand was once felt on both sides of the Atlantic, seems to be making a desperate last stand against progress in its homeland, Sicily.

Nowadays a fairly loosely organized "guild" of bandits, racketeers and crooked financiers—including, it is alleged, well-known public figures—the Mafia remains interested in keeping Sicily's population poor, ignorant and malleable.

Mostly, they remain all of this—but the Italian government, dealing successfully with the poorer regions on the South Italian mainland, thinks the time has come to call a halt.

SINCE THE HOUSE of Bourbon was thrown out of Sicily, successive governments of united Italy royal, fascist and republican, have tried to combat the Mafia problem—and hence the Sicilian problem—with harsh police methods.

Too often, these met with little success; local police chiefs and local government authorities in Sicily itself were sometimes in the pay of the Mafia almost always intimidated by prospects of its terrible vengeance.

In the 1950s private social reform organizations and reforming spirits like Danilo Dolci, dismayed at continuing poverty and lawlessness in the island, began to clamor for action and help. Dolci himself is in London this month seeking British sympathy and aid for his cause.

Under this pressure—and increasingly aware of the adverse effect on Italy of the poverty of the whole of the southern half of the country—the government decided that economic progress in Sicily was essential.

ABOUT FIVE YEARS ago, it began to pump funds for industrialization into the island and is since believed to have spent upward of $400 million there. The injection of money is beginning to work—but all too slowly.

The task of Sicily's reformers, both state and private, is made more uphill by a number of unique factors.

First, the Mafia itself. There is little doubt that elements of the organization still infiltrate some of the more conservatively-minded public bodies in Sicily—chambers of trade and commerce, industrial and agricultural associations and trade unions. Much of the slowness of industrialization is attributed to this.

Nor are their strong-arm methods entirely a thing of the past. Reformer Dolci continues his work of running help centers, finding jobs for the workless and promoting education resigned to the fact that the Mafia may one day make an attempt on his life.

BUT DOLCI TOO has become a legend, at home and abroad, and the feeling in responsible quarters here is that any such attempt would finally break what is left of popular regard—or rather, fear—for the Mafia.

Many of the new industrial projects are being started by ANIC, a subsidiary of the state-owned Eni Oil Corp. The concern is finding that not only Mafia influence is hampering its growth, Sicilians, despite their poverty, cling to their poor farm small holdings and few are either willing or suitably educated to become skilled factory workers.

Strike Eyed By Mechanics

Ceramic City Auto Mechanics Lodge 1019 Tuesday night voted to seek sanction for a strike. The local met at Carpenters Hall.

Approval will be sought from the International Association of Machinists, CIO-AFL, to strike if members approve.

Negotiations currently are being carried on with the East Liverpool Auto Dealers Association. About 26 to 30 members of the 84-member local are employed in garages operated by the dealers association.

No progress has been reached in past negotiations. Another meeting will be held sometime next week, according to Kenneth Schneidmiller, secretary.

The other members of the local are employed in other garages and trucking firms. They work under separate contracts.

Tom Kelly is president of the local. Members are seeking a wage increase and fringe benefits.

Dayton Planning House, Job For Negro Family

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Religious and civic leaders here are planning housing and employment for a Negro family of 10, expected to arrive here Saturday on a "re-verse freedom ride" from Louisiana.

City officials received word last Saturday that the White Citizens Council of New Orleans is paying bus fares for a Negro couple and their eight children.

"We have formed a united front to meet this city's biggest racial crisis in the past 25 years," said the Rev. J. Welby Broadus, one of Dayton's leading Negro pastors and a member of the City Board of Education.

The minister said the family will receive support in locating housing and employment from the mayor's office, the Urban League, the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Catholic Interracial Council of Miami Valley and other groups.

Head Of Salineville's Water Plant Honored On Retiring

George Leishman, retiring superintendent of the Salineville water works, was honored at a testimonial turkey dinner held Monday night by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Yohst of State St.

Members of the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs and water works employees were guests.

Leishman, 66, will retire March 30 from the water works, which he has served since 1933 when he became clerk. A 1916 graduate of Salineville High School, he was a coal miner previously.

He also served as meter reader and maintenance man before becoming superintendent in 1947.

Leishman recalls the pumps of the system were steam operated when he began work at the plant, but were changed to electric motors in 1940. In 1950, the well system was abandoned and the dam and precipitation plant constructed.

Leishman says Salineville is one of the few villages in Ohio with a treatment plant. He is a member of the Church of Christ, is married and has a son and two grandchildren.

Ernest Madison, 56, of W. Main St., assistant superintendent, will replace Leishman. Madison, a 1926 Salineville High graduate, was an oil firm salesman and Pennsylvania Railroad fireman and engineer before taking the water post in 1955. He has three daughters and a son.

Yohst presented a gift to Leishman on behalf of the board and employees. A St. Patrick's color theme was used in decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Goddard of W. Main St. were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Whelan of Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. William Briceland of Youngstown visited Saturday with Miss Myrtle Strabley.

Mrs. Eva Higgins of Schoolhouse Hill is visiting at Phoenix, Ariz.

Tax Department Film Attacked By Rep. Ayers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, has accused officials of the Internal Revenue Service of sponsoring a television film that depicts a businessman as a nightclub expense account cheater.

Ayres said Tuesday that the film, which shows a businessman in a club with a drink in his hand and a blonde on his lap, depicts businessmen "as a bunch of row-dies out to take the government for a ride."

"This is vicious," he said in demanding an investigation by Congress.

An IRS spokesman said the film was withdrawn three weeks ago because it had been misunderstood by businessmen and others.

Ayres said he had been assured by Chairman Newton Minow of the Federal Communications Commission that an investigation would be made.

The film was intended to caution taxpayers against making unauthorized expense account claims, the IRS spokesman said.

School Case Vote Slated

cation, with school scheduled to close May 29. This gives 176 days, plus two teachers meetings, Sept. 30 and Oct. 25, making the necessary 178 days of school the state requires.

Urton Anderson, high school consultant, reported on the United Local Science Fair for county schools held last Friday and Saturday. The board adopted a resolution to be sent to Mrs. Marilyn Humphreys, biology teacher, chairman; H. Millard Simonton, Donald Brunner and Milan Klingner, all teachers at United, along with United Board of Education, for the successful science fair.

Supt. James L. McBride reported his executive heads are discussing curriculums and meeting each Thursday in special study to arrange one satisfactory for all students.

He also reported that an Administrators' Roundtable dinner meeting will be held March 27 at Beaver Public School, and principals of all county schools will be invited.

Dr. William Widener, speech and hearing therapist, instructor at Kent State University, will discuss speech and hearing instruction as Columbiana County schools will have two special teachers in this area next year.

Jerry Strabley of Salineville will be at Southern Local and United and Karen Peterson of Cuyahoga Falls will be at Beaver and Fairfield-Waterford School Districts.

Atty. Donald Elliott, county board member said the all-county school boards' meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. April 18 at Fred Lohman, county attendance officer, reported he made 15 home and 28 school visits and traveled 625 miles.

Bills of $1,207.69 were ordered paid. Next meeting is April 16 at 8:30 p. m.

Man Given Term On Entry Charge

LISBON — Carl James Parks, 21, of Hammondsville R. D. 1 was sentenced to a 1-15-year term in the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield Tuesday by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard after the court revoked probation he had been granted earlier on a charge of burglary of the Saline Oil Co. warehouse in Salineville.

Indicted by the January Grand Jury in 1962, Parks had pleaded guilty to the charge but had been granted probation. He was cited into court and sentenced after Richard Rose, a adult probation officer, reported he had not kept the terms of his probation.

Meanwhile, Judge Buzzard sentenced Lloyd Wayne Gearin, 24, of Minerva to a 1-20-year term at the reformatory on a charge of statutory rape on a 13-year-old girl. He had been indicted by the September Grand Jury in 1962, then sent to the Lima State Hospital for observation after he pleaded guilty and asked probation.

Flood

lars of some homes in Jethro, but the flooding probably would not be severe enough to require evacuation.

Incinerator Supt. John Melvin said his crews will make early trash and garbage collections today in the two little communities to assure the refuse is cleared away before high water arrives. Unless the Ohio crests higher than 35 feet, there is little danger of serious flooding in New Cumberland, local Red Cross officials said today.

John D. Herron, Red Cross disaster chairman, said the stream is being watched closely and there will be no serious damage if the crest stays in the range of 35 feet as expected.

Only one family was forced to evacuate their home earlier this month when the river crested at 33 feet. The home is in a low-lying area and was surrounded with backwater from Harding Run Creek.

Should the river crest at 34 or 35 feet, the water would reach the edges of State Route 2 in the village.

Wellsville had 33½ feet during the high water about three weeks ago. This is about three feet more than East Liverpool and with the present prediction of 32 to 33 feet, it means Wellsville should have between 35 and 36 feet.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis said the flood gates on Wells Ave. are readied at 37 feet. If the rise of the water is rather rapid, the gates are erected immediately, but if it is slow, the men delay putting the gates in place until it is definitely determined what has to be done.

Storm sewer gates are closed when the water reaches the 31-foot level. This keeps the river from backing up through the system and into the city.

A check was being made of the flood pumps on the storm and sanitary sewer systems. These are used to carry out the waste flow when the water covers the outfalls.

Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare said half the gate is erected when the water reaches 35 feet and still is rising. If 39 feet or more is expected, the remainder of the gate goes up. Forty feet puts water on Wells Ave. at Little Yellow Creek.

The pumps at 1st St. and 22nd St. are started at 32 feet. They are turned off at 30 feet.

"We are getting ready just in case," he said. "There is sand and burlap bags available in case a dike is needed at the flood gate, but we don't expect to have to use them." Baldasare said.

He also commented that repairs have been completed to the discharge valves on the 1st St. pump. The valves have been corroded about four years. A scaffold was built down in the pump well and the valves restored to working condition, he said. The work was started two weeks ago.

Heavy rains on the Monongahela sent the stream rising suddenly in the Pittsburgh district Tuesday night and over three-quarters of an inch in the East Liverpool area helped push the Ohio upwards for the second high water this month and what could be the first flood stage.

The Ohio Power Co. said the storm caused only a few brief power interruptions north of the city with no serious damage to equipment.

Fund Drive Planned

Wellsville To Participate In Scholarship Program

The addition of Wellsville as a participant in the Area Citizens Scholarship Foundation was announced at a meeting of the newly-organized student loan group Tuesday night at Westgate School.

Further plans were discussed for an April fund drive in the district and an awards committee was nominated at the meeting attended by 20.

A delegation from Wellsville, including Don Lowe, William Menough, Fred Huston and Jerry Russell reported Wellsville would participate in the fund program.

The foundation intends this spring to award interest-free loans to qualified students, with financial need, in East Liverpool, Beaver Local, Wellsville and northern Hancock County school districts.

The nominating committee, headed by Sam Brown, city postmaster, submitted a slate of members of the awards committee, which was approved by the group.

The awards committee, with the terms listed in parenthesis, includes Ed Maloney (3 years), Don Baxter (2) and Betsy Bell (1), of East Liverpool; Mrs. Veronica Wolski (3), Lee Kirkland (2) and John Duffy (1) of Beaver Local District; George Vukas of Newell

(3), Walter Jordan of Chester (2) and Miss Betty Buben of Newell (1), for northern Hancock County, and Lowe (2) and Huston (1) for Wellsville. A third Wellsville member is to be selected.

The awards group will be responsible for screening applications for the loans and for making the final selections of the recipients, based on a point system reflecting the student's need, scholarship, achievement, work and leadership abilities.

It was pointed out that money obtained from the individual school districts will be presented to students from the respective school district—if Beaver Local residents contribute 20 per cent of the total fund, for example, Beaver Local students will receive 20 per cent of the loans.

A discussion of the planned fund drive, tentatively scheduled for April 7-14, was led by Glenn Waight, vice president.

On the basis of reports from John Parsons of East Liverpool, Mrs. Wolski of Beaver Local, Mrs. Richard Milner of Chester and Vukas of Newell, it was indicated the PTA groups in Beaver Local and Hancock County will sponsor the house-to-house drive on their areas.

Waight said further plans are being developed for the drive in East Liverpool, and that high school groups in each area will be asked to assist the adult canvass and other aspects of the drive.

John B. Hales will assist the fund committee on publicity it was announced.

Joe Coons, president, was in charge. Next meeting is April 2.

Leon Resigns Assessor Job

that no one holding another elective office could be a candidate for a municipal office.

Elected to a four-year term as county assessor in the 1960 general election, Leon, 46, gave this statement:

"The decision of the state tax commissioner to use the new appraisal figures as a guide to arrive at totals of valuations for Hancock County has placed me in the position to confirm with this decision or resign."

"I HAVE decided definitely to resign and hope to represent the people of Weirton as a mayor and if possible be of some assistance in guiding our city to the position of dignity and respect it certainly deserves."

At last night's meeting of County Commissioners William C. Graham, president, Robert E. Roach and James Finley, the resignation of the assessor was accepted unanimously on a motion of Finley.

Commissioners then adjourned to a private room for five minutes and upon returning Roach made this motion:

"That the assessor's office is to be closed and padlocked and new locks be put on the doors, and the keys turned over to Clerk Donald Stewart; that services of all personnel in his (Leon's) office be terminated, and the sheriff be instructed to prevent anyone from leaving or entering the office until the locks are changed."

COUNCILMEN JOIN SHOW BIZ. Council members will shuck their business suits for garb customarily reserved for the opposite sex for a "Mrs. America" beauty contest at the fourth annual Lions Club minstrel Saturday. Councilman Kenneth Berg models his costume for his associates. Sharing a laugh, from left, are Safety-Service Director Robert Owen, Councilman E. Massey, S. James Welch and Frank Duffy. Anthony Bernardi of Chester, director of the show, and Council member George Willshaw. Proceeds from the show at 8 p.m. at Westgate School will be used for sight-saving projects.

"GIVE ME a reason why it should be closed," Finley questioned his fellow commissioners. "There are numerous keys to the office," Roach replied. Roach added: "There's important county property in there, and whoever the new assessor will be can give the keys to his personnel."

A vote on Roach's motion followed and it was carried 2-1 with Finley opposing.

Deputies from the staff of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny stood guard in the Courthouse hallway last night, allowing no one to enter or leave the assessor's office.

Battle's letter, as far as could be determined at last night's meeting, instructed County Court and the next assessor to bring assessments on property up to 50 per cent of the appraisal value, to comply with a section of the state code, and did not direct that the new reappraisal figures be used this year. The letter follows:

"MY REVIEW of the valuations for assessment purposes determined by the assessor of Hancock County and those adjustments of individual property valuations determined by County Court sitting as a Board of Equalization and Review prior to Feb. 28 indicates that such valuations comply with the requirements of Chapter 11 and of Chapter 18 Article 9-A, Section 4 of the code of West Virginia.

"However," the letter continued, "by order of County Court dated Feb. 28 those valuations were rejected and the County Court directed that the 1962 assessed valuations be used for the current assessment year."

"The said order of County Court results in total assessed valuations for the current assessment year which do not meet the minimum requirements as set forth in Chapter 18, Article 9-A, Section 4 of the state code.

"Therefore, under the duty imposed upon me and the authority granted me as state tax commissioner by said Section 4, the order of County Court is disapproved and the assessor and County Court are hereby directed to make such corrections in the valuations as may be necessary so that the assessed valuations shall comply with the requirements of Chapter 11 of the said Section 4.

"SINCE this matter is one requiring prompt action, my staff stands ready to assist Hancock County officials in any way possible."

Battle had visited the county last week to help determine whether the property reappraisal program is to be used this year. The program had been rejected Feb. 28 by County Court.

Leon was to have used the reappraisal figures as a guide to reach the "true and actual" value of property in arriving at tax assessments on 19,000 parcels of land in the county.

If the next assessor fails to comply with a State Legislature act of 1960 requiring him to raise non-utility property assessments up to 50 per cent of the appraisal value, the county would apparently be penalized by a slash in state funds.

It is not known what the new assessor will do concerning Battle's letter, which indicates that use of the reappraisal figures is not required, only that a 50 per cent assessment figure be used.

defendants, to consolidate certain counts and to dismiss all but one count.

The motion was denied for the present without prejudice for the defendants to renew the motion during or following trials, Judge Paul said.

Another defendant, Domenic Caputo, 58, of Hollywood, Fla., and Youngstown, had sought the consolidation of two counts but his motion was also denied with the same provision as that set for Teemer and Pecora in their motion.

The FBI identified Teemer as the alleged owner of the Jockey Club on Route 30 near Chester and Joseph Pecora as its acting manager.

He said the child struck the center of the hood of his car. The car was almost stopped at the time of impact, he said.

Hull said the motorist "did his best to stop, but had little chance as the boy ran into the street from behind a parked car."

Stephens said the mishap was "not the driver's fault."

Strip Mining Control Cited

The need for more effective strip mine regulations and stricter enforcement of laws regarding strip mining were underscored by Howard Adrian of Williamsport at a meeting of the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night.

Adrian, a member of the Columbiana County Parks and Forest Council, described the effects of coal stripping on wildlife and conservation and water resources and said strip mine operations cost taxpayers money in higher taxes.

He said there are 225,000 acres of coal stripped lands in Ohio and 22,000 acres in Columbiana County which need to be reclaimed and put back into production as farm land or recreation areas.

A question-and-answer period followed. He was introduced by Albert Kell.

Lee Adams, president, was in charge of the meeting attended by 26.

Mike Cashdollar and Ed Clunk of the Chester Key Club were guests.

Highest Honor

Silver Beaver Award Given Midland Scouter

Leroy Turner, 809 Ohio Ave., Midland, was presented with the Silver Beaver award at the annual recognition meeting of the Allegheny Boy Scout Council Monday night at the Syria Mosque in Pittsburgh.

Presented for distinguished service, the award is the highest honor a local scout council may confer on a volunteer.

The potluck dinner meeting was attended by a capacity crowd of 1,400, including volunteers from all 14 districts of the Allegheny Council, which serves 28,000 boys in Allegheny, Beaver, and Westmoreland Counties.

Eleven councilors were presented the awards, including John M. Horter, of Beaver.

Turner has been active in scouting since he joined Troop 1 in 1927 in Clarksville, Pa., where he reached the rank of Life Scout.

He helped start scouting in Midland and from 1938 to 1954 served as assistant and scoutmaster of Troop 416. From 1945 to 1956 he served first as neighborhood commissioner then as assistant district commissioner. Since 1956, he has been vice chairman of the Fort McIntosh District.

Follansbee's Mayor Is Voted New Term

FOLLANSBEE, W. Va. — Mayor Vincent P. Curtis was re-elected to his second two-year term yesterday, defeating Collins Kane by a 320-vote margin in the Follansbee municipal election.

Balloting for police chief resulted in a difference of one vote between the two candidates. The tally showed 562 for incumbent John Mazeika and 561 for Samuel E. Davis.

Davis asked for a recount, which is scheduled to be conducted tonight by the city council.

Elected without opposition were Emmett A. Adler for a seventh term as city clerk and J. C. Spitznogle for city attorney.

In other results of the non-partisan voting, Dominick DiEugenio and William S. Dunn Jr. both incumbents, and Frank Rea were elected to the three city council seats at stake this year.

Council terms are four years. Terms of the mayor, police chief, clerk and attorney are for two years. The new terms begin April 1.

Nasser, Bitar Confer On Arab Unity Views

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic conferred until 4 a.m. today with Syrian Premier Salah Bitar in an effort to reconcile their views on Arab unity.

Nasser believes in one party rule, but Bitar's Ba'ath Socialists are more liberal. Reconciliation is an evident requirement for a union of Egypt, Syria and Iraq. The Ba'ath is strong in Syria and Iraq.

Bitar was minister of national guidance in Nasser's Cabinet before the union of Egypt and Syria split up.

Rolvaag Wins Judges' Nod

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A court order declaring Democrat Karl Rolvaag eligible for a certificate of election as Minnesota's governor is to be issued Thursday or Friday by the three-judge panel which supervised the recount of ballots from the Nov. 6 election.

The panel attested a 91-vote lead for Rolvaag Tuesday and turned down a motion by attorneys for Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen that the recount findings be thrown out.

The attorneys argued that the recheck of ballots was no more valid than the November tabulation by the State Canvassing Board which had shown Andersen the victor by 142 votes.

Presiding Judge J. H. Sylvestre said there was unanimous agreement by the panel on nearly 4,000 disputed ballots which came before them and said all three jurists adhered to the verdict for Rolvaag.

Only a possible appeal to the Minnesota Supreme Court thus stood between the 49-year-old Democrat and the chair which Andersen, 51, has continued to occupy until, under state law, a successor was ruled "qualified and elected."

"It's a great day and I'm naturally elated," said Rolvaag from the basement quarters in the Capitol, where he has been keeping abreast of governmental operations.

Andersen said he will decide whether to appeal after his attorneys study the judges' order.

There could be a delay of several weeks in the final determination if Andersen appeals.

The final recount figures gave Rolvaag 619,842 votes, Andersen 619,731, a margin of seven-thousandths of one per cent for the Democrat.

State law assesses costs of a recount against the ultimate loser. There are moves in the conservative-controlled legislature to have the state pick up the current bill, estimated at about $250,000.

Sargus Measure On Junkyards Has Opposition

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Correspondent

COLUMBUS — A junkyard regulation bill sponsored by Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-St. Clairsville, ran into one source of opposition Tuesday night at its first hearing in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Milton H. Wyner, representing the Cleveland and Ohio Auto and Truck Wrecking Associations, protested a number of provisions in the bill and told the committee he thinks the legislature should let the yards police themselves voluntarily.

Sargus' bill would require junk dealers to obtain a $100 license from the county auditor, renewable annually for $25, with the fees paid to the general fund.

A license could not be obtained if a junkyard were within 1,000 feet of a state or county road or within 300 feet of a township road unless it were fenced or naturally obscured. A fine of up to $1,000 is provided for violators.

Sargus amended the bill in committee last night to exempt from the measure business whose principal products are scrap metal or non-ferrous metals for melting or resale.

Wyner argues that auto wrecking yards are "no more unattractive than stockyards, sand and gravel pits and coal yards." He said the bill would limit expansion of existing yards and questioned the constitutionality of sections of the bill.

Sargus pointed out that his bill would affect only those auto junkyards outside municipalities. Most large cities already have similar regulations on junkyards within the corporate limits, he said.

Lumber consumption for 1962 was 37.4 billion board feet, slightly above the figure of 1961.

Suits Ask $35,000 For Wife's Injuries

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Holdshoe of Thompson Pl. filed suits for $35,000 Tuesday in Common Pleas Court for injuries she alleges she received when pinned against a picnic table by a drifting car.

Ramon Whinery of Lisbon R.D. 4 is defendant.

Mrs. Holdshoe asks $25,000, claiming injuries, and her husband asks $10,000 for her medical expenses and loss of her services. Their petitions claim she was pinned against the table and a tree by the car at Whinery's Landing at Guilford Lake last July 15.

Autoist Who Hit Children Gets 'Works'

A Toronto area motorist whose car struck two small children about a week ago was handed a stiff fine and jail sentence for driving while under the influence of alcohol at a hearing Tuesday night before Jefferson County

Judge Augustus H. Evans Jr. at Toronto. Four other area motorists were fined last night, including a Wellsville man charged with driving under the influence. Acie H. Gault, 57, of Toronto R. D. 1 was arrested March 12 after his car struck two small children along Lee Ridge Rd. four miles north of Steubenville just west of Route 213. The Winterville State Highway Patrol said Gault went off the road, struck the children and then rammed the fence at their home. Injured were Charles Koch, 7, and his sister, Rebecca Koch, 4, children of James R. Koch. They were hospitalized. Gault was fined $500 and costs and sentenced to six months in the Jefferson County Jail at Steubenville. The judge also suspended his driver's license for three years. Gault, who was listed as being on relief in the patrol accident report, was placed in jail when arrested but was freed on $500 bond put up by a professional bondsman.

Robert Lee Burchett, 308 Campground Rd., Wellsville, was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail by Judge Evans last night for driving while under the influence. The patrol said Burchett was arrested Saturday on Route 7. In other hearings, Ronald E. Smith, 25, of Salineville R. D. 2 was fined $5 and costs for driving a vehicle without a muffler; William L. Morris, 54, of Wellsville R. D. 1 was fined $5 and costs for a stop sign violation, and Kenneth R. Ours, 19, of 1137 Oakdale St., Wellsville, was fined $10 and costs for speeding.

The State Highway Department Division 11 office at New Philadelphia today announced the employment of a Rogers man to replace one of seven county highway employees laid off Monday. He is John Burson. He will work from the Unity outpost, the office announced. The division office announced earlier that all of the men laid off will not be replaced. A 10 per cent cut is expected on the replacement list. No others have been hired to date.

Extra Police To Help Avert Traffic Jams

Extra police will be assigned to duty in East Liverpool Saturday to attempt to prevent a repetition of a traffic jam as patrons head for Waterford Park Race Track. Safety-Service Director Robert Owen said today. Owen said he already has singled out three of the worst trouble spots where manual traffic control will be used — W. 3rd and Jefferson Sts. and W. 5th St. at Jefferson and Monroe Sts. The W. 5th-Monroe corner produced the worst tieup last Saturday—the track's opening day — because "traffic converged there from all directions," Owen said. Most of the snarl was blamed on the fact traffic backed up from the West Virginia ends of the Chester and Newell Bridges, where no controls were in effect for drivers attempting to make right turns to head south for the track.

Mansfield Will Head City Mission Board

Carl Mansfield was elected president of the Board of Directors of the Community Rescue Mission at a meeting Tuesday night at the mission on Broadway. Other officers elected were Roland Edgar, vice president, while Donald Skidmore, secretary, and Donald Smith, treasurer, were re-elected. Supt. James Burton announced that 65 beds were provided the past month and 160 meals were served. Skidmore presided. Next meeting is April 16.

Pair Escapes
In Auto Crash

An East Liverpool area man and a Rogers motorist escaped injury early today when their car careened off a curve of Route 14, hit a fence, sheared off a utility pole and came to rest in a pond.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said James R. Fitzsimmons, 23, of Rogers was headed west about 5:35 when his 1960 sedan veered off a curve in Route 14 a mile and a half east of Route 7.

The auto went off the left side of the road, hit the fence, smashed into a pole of the Ohio Edison Co. and went into the pond on property of Hyde Kayler of Columbiana R. D. 3.

Morley Marsden, 24, of East Liverpool R. D. 3 and the driver were unhurt, officers said, but the auto was demolished.

Fitzsimmons was charged with unsafe operation.

William Davis, 43, of Steubenville escaped injury when his tractor-trailer truck went off a curve of Route 644 about a mile south of Hanoverton last night at 8 and overturned.

Davis said the steering mechanism of the rig apparently became faulty and he lost control.

Los Angeles County has nearly three million vehicles registered.

Ohio Airman Loses 50 Pounds—No Hikes

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Airman 1.C Randall S. Brunson of nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base lost more than 50 pounds in 10 weeks, and no 50-mile hikes were involved.

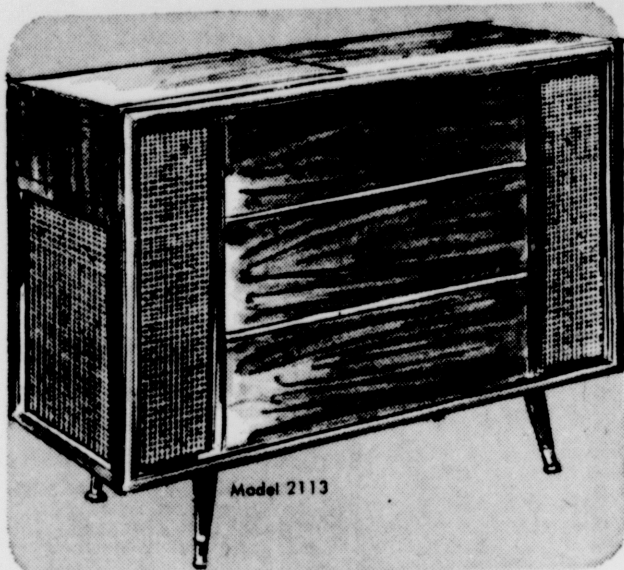

Brunson, faced with a directive to get his weight from 226 pounds to a minimum of 195, did it with a special diet and exercise program included in the so-called 5-B-X program, adopted from the Royal Canadian Air Force.

"I'd have been down to 170 (instead of 175½) by now, but I went to a dinner party last week and gained eight pounds," he said.

Council Approves

Blanket Bonding Planned For Officials At Wellsville

Wellsville City Council Tuesday night adopted legislation approving the procurement of a blanket bond for all city officers with three exceptions.

The legislation was adopted under suspension of rules. Mayor William Daugherty commented a much broader scope can be obtained as well as three times as much coverage at a more economical price than under individual bonds.

All city officers will be covered with the exception of the treasurer and the treasurers of the Fire and Police Pension Boards. These must be separate bonds.

COVERED will be the mayor, police chief, patrolmen, Council president, solicitor, auditor, water clerk, refuse clerk and safety service director.

The mayor also pointed out the new sureties will be "position" bonds, covering the office and not just the individual then holding that office.

If obtained now, the bond would cover who ever is mayor three years from now, he said.

In other business, Council adopted a resolution requesting the State Highway Department to hire engineers to prepare a design report on the relocation of Route 7 through Wellsville. The resolution stipulates the city will not be liable for any of the expense.

The action came after Earl Nelson, deputy director for Highway Department Division 11 at New Philadelphia, informed Council at its last meeting this is necessary for any projects the city might want.

COUNCIL also passed on first reading a resolution asking the state to resurface Clark Ave. and Wells Ave., both of which are part of Route 7 through the city.

The resolution was put to a vote under suspension of rules but lost when Councilman Donald Miller opposed the move. Councilman Robert Taggart was absent. Six yes votes are needed for passage under suspension of rules.

Miller said Council should consider this further. He said he believes Clark Ave. is in better condition than any other section of street in town. It is brick and is not breaking up like the blacktop streets, he added.

Councilman William Stroble, street and light chairman, said the residents complained of the vibration in their homes from vehicles traveling over the bricks, which are loose.

A DISCUSSION followed on a best coating applied to a small section of Clark last year to tighten the brick. Safety Service Director Fred Baldasare said the application tightened the bricks, but now residents are complaining about "waves" in the streets.

Councilman Dwight MacLean, speaking of Wells Ave., said a 100-foot section each way at the intersection of Routes 7 and 45 should be torn up and replaced with concrete. This would not ripple like blacktop when big trucks halt at the intersection, he said.

Stroble said the condition of the streets is bad, particularly Wells

Ave. He said work is expected to start on them soon.

He said his committee has made a study of street lights and there are 21 locations where new lights should be installed.

THERE IS a surplus in the street lighting fund and Council is considering a recommendation that the money be used to install new lights as well as mercury lights along Main St. Miller claims the surplus has built up over the years and will not be the same each year.

Stroble said he will have more to report at the next meeting.

Miller said the finance committee will meet again next Monday night at 7 for further work on the annual appropriation. He invited all members to attend.

He also complained the parking meter collection is down and "getting worse" by the month. He said an average of $774.05 was collected the past four months compared to $990 a month when first installed.

"Either they are not being patrolled correctly or people have switched their parking habits," he said. The property committee will investigate.

THE AUDIENCE was filled with students from the high school American Problems class. One suggested the meters are not operating properly. He said he put in a penny and received an hour on the meter.

Mrs. Margaret Baldwin, clerk, informed Council that principal officials of Sterling China Co. were out of town but one officer said signs will be posted, urging the potters to use company lots for parking.

Council received a complaint at the last meeting that the workers were parking all day along the streets.

Council voted to send a letter to William Pomeroy, president, explaining the problem.

Councilman Frank DeLorenzo said he doesn't believe a letter will do any good. Miller said a letter had been sent the firm previously and it got results.

The mayor's report for February showed $897.90 collected in fines and fees. The January report showed $335.35 collected.

AUDITOR Edgar S. Davidson's report showed a balance of $83,783.65.

When questioned by Stroble, Mayor Daugherty said bids will be sought in the near future for repairs to the water standpipes.

He said work on the city garage will be held off until conditions are better, pointing to the many water and sewer problems the city has been faced with in the past two months.

The mayor also reported that Clyde Baker, superintendent of Springhill Cemetery, said there has been more burials since the first of the year than for any corresponding period in his 33 years service.

Police Chief John Hepner explained the change due in the radio system. He said the police will operate on a narrow band, thereby eliminating interference from other departments. The deadline is Oct. 1 for the change, according to federal law, he explained.

He said he will obtain prices on renting and purchasing equipment.

The Rev. James Sanko of the Riverside United Presbyterian Church gave the opening prayer.

Pilot Will Continue Efforts To Get Plane From Museum

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Charles Doyle, commercial airline pilot from Minneapolis, says he will continue efforts to recover his P40 World War II plane from the Air Force Museum here.

"I can't afford such a loss," Doyle told the Journal Herald by telephone Tuesday night. "I am meeting Rep. Clark McGregor (of Minnesota) at Minneapolis on March 29. I am trying to get congressional action."

Doyle has been rejected in the courts in his bid to recover the old aircraft which he said he agreed to trade to the museum for a flyable C45.

The museum agreed to return the plane, but Doyle said the engine and cowling were removed after the craft was crated and flown here from Minneapolis. "I don't want to hear from them until they can produce the missing parts of my airplane," he said.

Doyle said the museum agreed to the trade and paid for bringing his plane here. After that, he said the museum advised him that Air Force regulations prevented such a deal. It was then that Doyle, a flier for Northwest Orient Airlines, went to the courts.

The museum said it still is investigating the matter in an effort to determine who authorized the deal but that it is not interested in any further trades.

"Neither am I," said Doyle, who estimated his loss at $8,000.

Ohio Airman Killed In Jet Fighter Crash

KENNEWICK, Wash. (AP) — Air Force Capt. William F. Tesmer, 29, Cleveland, Ohio, was killed Tuesday when his F106 fighter jet crashed in a field while on a training mission from Geiger Air Force Base.

Officials said Tesmer reported by radio and said he was having trouble and would have to bail out. His ejection gear apparently failed to work, they said. Tesmer, graduate of Ohio University, is survived by his widow, Evelyn, and two small children, all of whom live at the base.

Orioles Remain Unbeaten In Exhibitions, Post 10th

4-3 Victory Over Chisox Is Latest

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles, traveling along baseball's exhibition trail undefeated in 10 games, seem to have located the glory road they suddenly stepped off in September 1960.

In 1960 the Orioles battled the New York Yankees nip and tuck before losing out for the American League pennant. They were in first place on Sept. 9 and on Sept. 15 were still virtually tied for the top with an 83-58 record to 82-57 for the Yanks. Then came a disastrous series with the Yanks, and the Orioles finished second, 8 games behind with an 89-65 record.

The Orioles slipped to a third-place finish in 1961, 14 games back of the Yankees, and last year dropped to seventh place, 19 games out of first.

Now with Luis Aparicio, Al Smith and Pete Ward obtained in an off-season trade with the Chicago White Sox, a sharp reversal seems evident.

It was a triple by shortstop Aparicio that started the Orioles on the way to their 10th straight victory Tuesday, 4-3 over the White Sox at Sarasota. It triggered a 3-run first inning and the Sox never caught up.

The world champion Yankees continued at the bottom of the AL standings with a 3-8 mark. They rapped out 15 hits but nevertheless lost to Kansas City 9-5 at Bradenton.

Al Kaline's four hits and the pitching of Hank Aguirre led the Detroit Tigers to their fifth straight triumph, 8-3 over the Los Angeles Dodgers at Lakeland. Aguirre worked six innings and has not yielded an earned run in 13 innings. Before the game the Tigers announced that pitcher

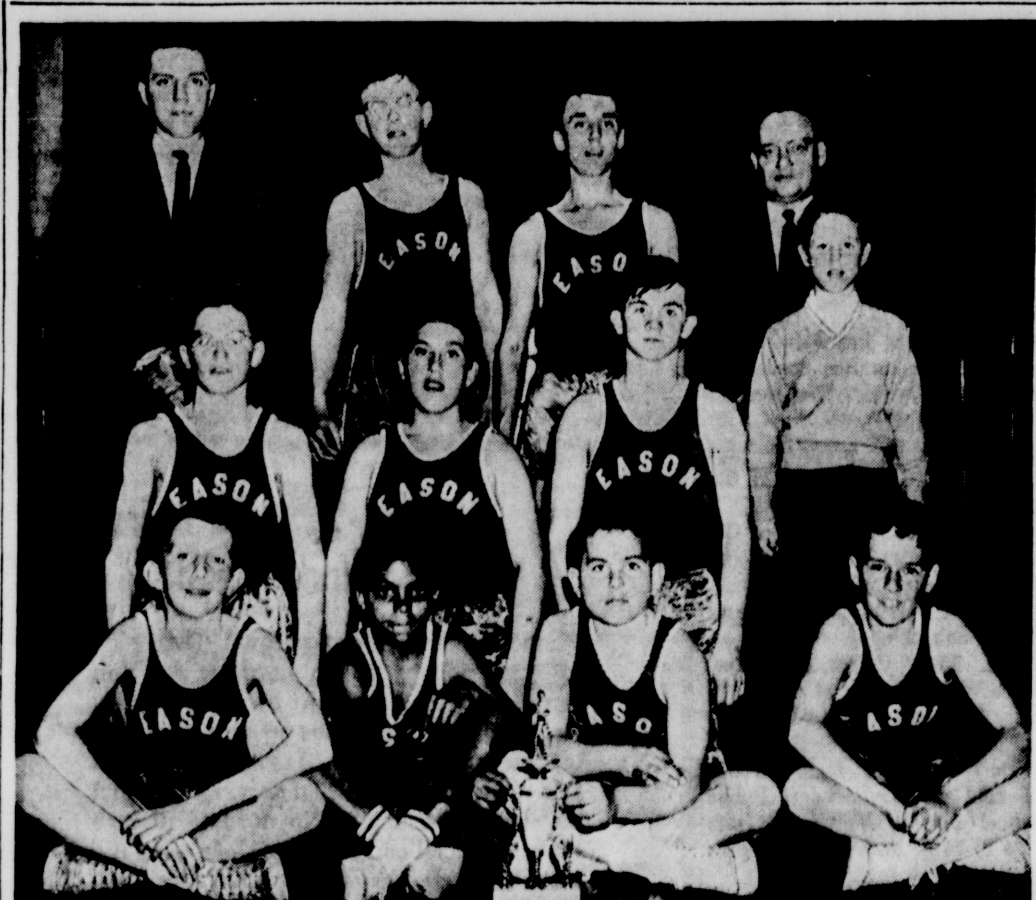

Frank Lary had signed his contract. Cleveland smashed out 18 hits and crushed Houston, the National League exhibition leader, 13-3 at Tucson.

Cincinnati, helped by John Edwards' 2-run homer, nipped Minnesota 5-4 at Orlando and Norm Larker's ninth-inning single drove in the winning run for Milwaukee as the Braves edged Pittsburgh 7-6 at Fort Myers.

Lee Thomas homered and drove in another run with a single to lead the Los Angeles Angels to a 5-1 victory over Boston at Palm Springs, Calif.

Pitching dominated the other games in which the Chicago Cubs defeated San Francisco 3-2 at Mesa and St. Louis whipped the New York Mets 7-3 at St. Petersburg. Four Cub pitchers fanned 15 Giant batters, seven of them by southpaw Dick Ewell in the first three innings.

Another left-hander, Curt Simmons of the Cardinals, twirled 5 hitless innings against the Mets, then yielded two scratch singles before finishing his 6-inning stint.

Eason's, Ogilvie's Champs; New Record In 220 Event

Youngstown, Eason's and Ogilvie's marched into the winner's circle by gaining close victories in a basketball tripleheader sponsored by the Little Potters League Tuesday night at Memorial Auditorium.

A crowd of over 500 saw a Youngstown team, dominated by Youngstown University seniors nip an East Liverpool All-Star team, 70-69 after the local five had staged a brilliant comeback.

Eason's hung on for a 26-24 victory over McNutt's in the battle of insurance agencies to capture the Seventh Grade tourney championship and Ogilvie's gained the Sixth Grade crown by topping George Bright's, 22-17.

Following the championship battles, trophies were presented to the winning sponsors Tom Eason and Don Ogilvie.

Eason's and McNutt's battled on nip-and-tuck terms with the champs holding a 17-14 edge at halftime only to fall behind, 20-18, after three periods.

Jack Menough's 10 points, along with eight by Dan McFarlane and six markers from Dale Jones, sparked Eason's victory. McKinnon of McNutt's took game honors with 11 points.

Little Danny Cunningham led Ogilvie's to the championship with a 13-point performance; Ogilvie's led all the way in the title game. Flint paced Bright's with eight points while Christian added six.

Youngstown edged East Liverpool at the foul line as the locals showed a 32-28 advantage from the field.

East Liverpool trailed by nine points at halftime and was behind, 32-44, entering the fourth quarter before putting on a sizzling rally sparked by Herb Lake, the former Little All-American.

Harold Davis, a former Westminster great, was the big gun for Youngstown with 19 points and converted nine out of nine foul shots with the last two deciding the game in the closing seconds. Billy Davis added 14 points for the winners.

Lake was the leading point producer for both teams, pacing East

Liverpool with 22 on 11 field goals. Jim "Whitey" Betts, the ex-Potter and Ohio U. star, scored 15 points while Myles Witchee added 13.

Records Being Checked To Find Bryant's Call

ATLANTA (AP) — Telephone company officials are hunting for records of a long-distance telephone call reportedly made by Wallace Butts to Alabama Coach Paul Bryant.

The Saturday Evening Post says Butts, former athletic director at the University of Georgia, telephoned Bryant information concerning the Georgia-Alabama football game last fall.

Both Butts and Bryant denied they rigged the game, which Alabama won 35-0. The magazine says an Atlanta insurance salesman, George Burnett, overheard the telephone conversation.

John J. Ryan, Georgia division commercial manager for Southern Bell Telephone Co., said it is possible for a call to be cut into a long-distance call as Burnett claims happened to him.

But even if records of the telephone call are found, Ryan said, the company could release them only under subpoena.

The Post article says a telephone company official, not identified, confirmed that the call was made.

Ryan said Tuesday: "We are having difficulty locating the person who supposedly confirmed the call."

The FBI announced in Washington that it will not investigate the incident since preliminary inquiries show that no federal law was involved.

NAIA Head Blasts NCAA, Favors AAU In Struggle

NEW YORK (AP)—"Our athletic amateurism is a farce," says Al Duer of Kansas City. "We're more professional than Russia in the conduct of our sports programs."

"At least, the Russians do it out in the open. Our devious, under-the-table methods are more damaging to moral standards."

Duer can't be classified as a crack-pot popoff. As executive secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, it's his job to police the athletic policies of 463 member colleges.

The NAIA is a sort of baby brother of the powerful National Collegiate Athletic Association, which governs sports in more than 500 of the major universities and colleges.

The NAIA, made up mostly of smaller institutions with an average enrollment of 1,200 students, has found itself in the middle of the fight between the NCAA and Amateur Athletic Union over control of the nation's amateur sports.

"We're more on the side of the AAU because we think the NCAA is engaged in a sheer power grab," Duer said. "We feel that if the colleges are permitted to continue on their present course, our whole amateur structure may scramble."

"It's not just the matter of athletic scholarships, which Avery Brundage (president of the International Olympic Committee) objects to so strenuously. It's the way the colleges go after top athletes."

"In this mad scramble to be bigtime, ethics are forgotten. Talented athletes are recruited and subsidized in every violation of our amateur codes. It's done undercover. This corrupts our young athletes and produces our sports scandals."

"I don't think we have even scraped more than the surface of our scandals."

Marquette, Providence Win In NIT

NEW YORK (AP) — For Marquette's Ed Hickey, the Warrior victory was the most satisfying of a long basketball coaching career. For Providence's Joe Mullaney, the Friars' victory was another in a long line of heart-stopping scrambles.

The two teams posted quarter-final triumphs in the 28th National Invitation Tournament Tuesday night, Marquette blazing past St. Louis 84-49 and Providence counter rallying for a 106-96 decision over Miami of Florida.

Marquette and Providence square off in the opening game of Thursday night's semifinal doubleheader at Madison Square Garden, preceding a match between Canisius and Villanova.

Hickey, involved with St. Louis Coach John Benington in a feud that has resulted in a breach of basketball relations between their two schools, watched contentedly as his veteran Warrior squad thoroughly outclassed the Billikens. Hustle, speed and a 51 per cent shooting average made it a Marquette romp.

Hickey, who has accused St. Louis of luring away a player committed to Marquette and vows he will never again play a Benington team—"unless we're paired off in a tournament"—refused to dwell on the controversy after the game.

St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands was formally colonized by the Danes in 1672.

Rotary Hears Coach

Little Potters Basketball League's Operations Told

Details on the operation of the Little Potters Basketball League were explained to the Rotary Club Tuesday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel by Jim Harris, varsity basketball coach and a member of the league's Advisory Board.

The purpose of the league is to stimulate interest in basketball among younger boys since the former league composed of the city's elementary schools had to be abandoned when the system was switched to junior highs.

However, the cage loop also serves as a feeder for the junior high teams with next year's sophomores the first league graduates to enter high school, Harris explained.

Harris praised the Y Church League for encouraging interest and teaching young boys about basketball in the years that lapsed between the abandonment of the grade school loop and the establishment of the Little Potters organization.

The city was divided into eight areas and boys are assigned to teams on the basis of their residence. Sponsors were secured for each team and uniforms were bought.

In the first year, the league was confined to sixth graders and a seventh grade division was organized the following year. However, coaches advanced with the boys and new coaches were secured for the following sixth graders.

A non-profit organization, the league uses the funds it receives from the championship games and from a Tag Day in November to equip outdoor basketball courts.

The first court was installed at Thompson Park, Harris said, and another will be finished in Glen-moor. Courts also are needed in some other sections of the city.

The league officers are Harry McConville, president; Charles Winters, vice president, and Bob Duffy, sports editor of The Review, secretary-treasurer. Merrill Hall, high school athletic director; Frank Chan, assistant basketball coach, and Harris serve as advisors.

Harris was introduced by Don Burbeck, program chairman. Sidney C. Porter, president, presided.

Cornell University, founded in 1865, is the youngest of the Ivy League schools.

Southern Cal Coach Says Oregon State Won't Be Out Of Place With Top Teams

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Coach Forrest Twogood of Southern California, a fellow who should know, says the Beavers of Oregon State won't be one bit out of place in the company of collegiate basketball's big three—Cincinnati, Duke and Chicago Loyola—in the NCAA championships this weekend.

"This is a real good, strong, sound team," Twogood said as he and the rest of Derbytown looked ahead to Friday's semifinals at massive Freedom Hall.

"Mel Counts, their 7-foot boy has come along wonderfully. Terry Baker is a great team leader and a fine player; Steve Pauly is a strong boy who can shoot the eyes out of the basket, and those three sophomores — Jim Kraus, Frank Peters and Jim Jarvis—get the job done.

"Slate Gill is a wonderful coach and has really shaped up the team. I saw that game Saturday night against Arizona State and the way Oregon State handled them was remarkable."

Oregon State, with a 22-7 record, spilled fourth-ranked Arizona State 83-65 in the final of the Far

Miami Names OSU Aide As Grid Mentor

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Miami University's new football coach is Edward (Bo) Schembechler, assistant coach at Ohio State since 1958 and a former teammate of his predecessor, John Pont. Schembechler was named Tuesday. He is the third straight alumnus to assume the post. Pont resigned earlier this month to take the head football coach's job at Yale. Pont's predecessor at Miami was Ara Parseghian, now at Northwestern, who guided the Redskins from 1951 through 1955. Schembechler, 33, is a native of Barberton and a 1951 Miami graduate. He and Pont helped the Redskins win the 1951 Salad Bowl game on a team coached by Woody Hayes, who then went on to more football fame at Ohio State. Schembechler, who usually played as an offensive tackle, joined the coaching staff of the Presbyterian College, Clinton, S.C., after graduation. He also coached at Bowling Green and Northwestern before going to Ohio State.

Officials Air Bridge Jobs

SUMMITVILLE — Possible replacement of two narrow bridges in Franklin Township was discussed at a meeting of the township trustees Tuesday night. The bridges are located on Township Rd. 729 west of Smith Rd. and Township Rd. 752 east of Summitville. One span was the scene of a minor mishap in 1960 involving a Carroll County school bus and the other is crossed four times daily by a Southern Local school bus. Trustees may discuss the bridges with the county commissioners. Paul Dowdell, president, announced a bridge is being hauled for use on township roads affected by the thaw, and roads are also being scraped as weather permits. The summer oiling and resurfacing program was discussed, and the trustees will meet March 26 with county commissioners to review the plans. A request was approved from William McKarns for removing brush and sloping a bank at his farm on Emerick Rd. Bills totaling $719 were ordered paid. Next meetings April 1.

Midland Council 2005, Knights of Columbus, announced plans at its meeting Monday evening, for the seventh annual art exhibit June 24-July 10. It will feature the works of professional, amateur and student artists. Because of the success of the shows in the past, the council has extended the eligibility to persons within a 100-mile radius of Midland. All work will be judged by professional artists. Past judges have been Vincent Nesbet, dean of the Art Institute of Pittsburgh; Jerry Caplan, professor of art at Carnegie Institute of Technology; and Clyde Siner, assistant director of the Butler Institute of Art. All work must be submitted between June 13-17, with hours of delivery 7 to 9 p. m. The deadline is June 10. Entry blanks and information may be obtained by writing Anthony Martell or Joseph M. Jones, 320 Midland Ave., Midland. The council is observing its annual Founders Week and Angelo Cellini, grand knight, said members will attend the 9 a. m. Mass Sunday at the Presentation Catholic church. A breakfast will follow. Next meeting is April 1.

Busts For Grid Hall Of Fame Are Being Completed

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Plaster busts are being completed for the 17 charter members of the national pro football Hall of Fame who will be enshrined for their grid accomplishments. The Hall of Fame will be opened in mid-July and dedicated Sept. 7. The busts, by Jack Worthington of Canton, eventually will be in bronze. While in plaster, they are checked for accuracy and likeness by close friends, family members or the man himself. In checking the bust of Jim Thorpe, his old teammate with the Canton Bulldogs, Pete Calac said: "It looks like old Jim. He would have liked it." Others to be placed in the Hall of Fame: George Halas, Joe Carr, Bert

Another Wellsville Sewer Listed Broken

A sanitary sewer at 5th and Commerce Sts., Wellsville, collapsed Tuesday afternoon, according to Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare. He said the line is about eight feet deep. A crew started the excavation to make repairs this morning. The sewer caused the waste to back up in one service line on Maple Ave. It was cleared last night, he said. Repairs also are due two other sewers which collapsed. The city has literally been plagued with broken water and sewer lines in the past two months. Hearing Planned Thursday For 2 Traffic Counts

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today set a hearing Thursday at 9 a. m. for an East End motorist who pleaded not guilty to two traffic charges. Chimmie Robinson, 1236 Chaffin St., is accused of making a false statement Aug. 13 in an application for an operator's permit and driving after his license had been suspended by the safety responsibility division of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. The two affidavits were signed by Howard Lisk, district investigator for the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, and Patrolman Orin C. Smith. Robinson entered the not guilty pleas this morning through his counsel, Atty. William S. Foulks. Earlier, he was fined $5 and costs on a plea of guilty to a charge he crashed a traffic signal Feb. 25 at Pennsylvania and Dewey Aves. Robinson's hearings on all the charges had been delayed because he had been hospitalized recently.

NO ACTION was taken on a letter from Norman Ferrari of Weirton, Hancock County Centennial parade chairman, requesting the city to enter a float in the July 4 parade.

Graham street committee chairman, reported the street department has been patching the worst pot holes in streets and alleys and workers hope to repair all surfaces when weather permits.

Mayor Harry Abrams told Council he had received a request from a person to sell racing forms along the line of traffic to the Waterford Park race track.

Following a discussion, Council unanimously approved a motion made by Graham and seconded by Hissam that sale of the racing forms be denied.

Council also aired control of race track traffic. Kology reported he had received complaints about local residents being unable to drive from side streets because track traffic blocked intersections on Carolina Ave.

It was reported police have not directed traffic in town since the present track meet began Saturday. Mayor Abrams said he will instruct city police to keep intersections clear.

Council authorized preparation of an ordinance requiring water service to be discontinued to water customers whose accounts become delinquent.

HUTTON, chairman of the water committee, said the water department bank balance is $2,563.

He said fire hydrants will be given a regular flushing by water department workers in the near future, and residents will be notified.

Kology, building committee chairman, said chewing gym has been tossed carelessly on the City Hall auditorium - gym floor by those using the hall and warned the practice must be halted.

Hissam noted that basketball players from East Liverpool cleaned and repaired the floor last year, and those using it should try to keep it in good condition.

Complaints about lack of a warning system at the 9th St. crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad were reviewed by Hutton. He said it was reported some motorists cannot properly view the tracks because of a nearby building. There is a warning sign at the crossing.

All mollusks bear a remarkable organ called a mantle, a kind of living skin or pad that secretes a limestone substance for the shell.

Early this year a steel beam, able to bear twice the weight of the 2,080-pound Liberty Bell, was inserted into the worn wooden yoke. The bell also got sturdier side frames, attached to a new steel platform.

Thirteen different trotters were timed in two minutes or better for the mile in America in 1962. Those over 3-years-old were Su Mac Lad, an 8-year-old gelding, and Ordeal, an 11-year-old New Zealand mare.

Probers To Hear His Story

Defense Aide To Testify
On Handling Information

WASHINGTON (AP)—Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester goes before investigating congressmen Monday to tell his side of the story on administration handling of information.

Sylvester's handling of Pentagon announcements during the Cuban bombers and missiles crisis, and his statement that the government has a right to lie in times of grave crisis, drew sharp criticism Tuesday as a panel of news industry leaders testified before a House subcommittee investigating government information policies.

The Pentagon information officer and his opposite number at the State Department, Assistant Secretary of State Robert Manning, are due before the Foreign Operations and Government Information subcommittee Monday for the second installment of the inquiry.

Subcommittee Chairman John E. Moss, D-Calif., wound up the first session by describing the newsmen's consensus this way: "The government itself should now propose guidelines on policies for any future crisis."

Clark Mollenhoff of the Des Moines Register and Tribune told the subcommittee that Sylvester "stands as something of a symbol of the problem."

"I feel he has damaged his usefulness and is somewhat of a burden to the secretary of defense and the administration," Mollenhoff said. "It is difficult to see how anyone can have very much confidence in what he has to say."

Mollenhoff, representing Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalists society, joined other witnesses in complimenting a speech Sylvester gave in New York Dec. 6.

In it, Sylvester said it is the "government's right, if necessary, to lie to save itself when it's going up into a nuclear war."

5 years - Edwin Copeland, Roger Headley, Mrs. Wilbur McKenna and Mrs. Geraldine McKenna will receive recognition for their service to Ohio's 4-H Club boys and girls at special ceremonies in the Ohio Union on the Ohio State University campus Thursday.

Pins and certificates will go to advisors who have completed up to 35 years service. Four advisors will receive sapphire clover pins for 35 years and seven will get ruby pins for 30 years, according to Albert F. Gehres, state 4-H Club leader.

John Austin of the Sears Roebuck Foundation of Chicago will present the pins and W. B. Wood, director of the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service, the certificates.

Mrs. James Bush Brown, president of the Neighborhood Garden Association of Philadelphia, will be speaker. She has gained wide recognition for her work with 4-H Clubs in low income areas of Philadelphia.

Through the garden group and the 4-H Clubs she has promoted gardening and flower production in highest areas of the city. She will tell the Ohio advisors about some of her experiences in this effort.

Columbiana County advisors to receive pins are:

15 years - Ruth Frischkorn of Wellsville and Mrs. Clark Hahn of Homeworth; 10 years - Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bartholme, Mrs. Steve Kristal and Harold Milliken of Salem, James Ewing of Lisbon, Dorothy Wilms of Leontonia and Dorothy Finicum of Salineville.

A burglar who was ransacking the cellar of an East End home Tuesday night fled through a window when he heard the owner return, police reported.

Mrs. F. Q. Mason, 937 Ohio Ave., reported the burglary to police at 9:28. She said the intruder gained entrance by breaking a 24x36-inch cellar window.

The burglar was ransacking the cellar, but fled through the same window when he heard the occupants return, she said. Apparently nothing was taken, officers said.

Striking Ore Miners Vote Return In France

PARIS (AP) — Striking French iron ore miners voted Tuesday night to return to work after getting job security pledges from their private employers.

Still out for the third week were 170,000 coal miners who work in the government-operated pits.

The iron miners are paid much more than the coal miners, who struck for a 11 per cent hike in wages and a shorter work week.

The coal miners were offered a 5.7 per cent increase spread over the year. The iron miners feared the closing of marginal mines as a result of Common Market plans to improve efficiency in the industry.

Industry's Due Prosperous Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite some gloomy predictions when President Kennedy signed his order four months ago today banning discrimination in federally-financed housing, the homebuilding industry appears headed for another prosperous year. It's still too early for a detailed analysis of the effects of the order, but early indications are that it did little to slow the pace of home building. In February, construction began on 86,500 private housing units. On a seasonally adjusted basis, this was 4 per cent above January and 11 per cent ahead of February 1962. There is no indication yet of any extensive flight from use of financing by the Federal Housing and Veterans Administrations to conventional methods. Loan applications for the FHA and applications for VA appraisals were down slightly in February compared with the same month last year, but officials said other factors than the housing order are involved in the decrease. Total FHA loan applications are up 7 per cent over February 1962.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

DEAR HELOISE: Three years ago I actually dreamed of an idea which has put my husband's worn stretch socks to good use. They make wonderful "slip covers" for coat hangers.

Just snip a hole in the heel (if there's not one there already!) and slip the coat hanger in.

Put the hook of the hanger through the hole in the heel. Then pull it tight and fold over the ends and fasten. I use a stapler but a sock can be pinned or basted. They are easily removed for washing when desired.

I use these slipcovered coat hangers for wash-and-wear clothing and have never had just get on clothing from the hangers. In the closet they are marvelous for garments made of slippery material which usually slide off the hangers. Sun dresses and blouses stay on my hangers too.

All garments really cling to them!

CARLA ENRIGHT.

DEAR HELOISE: Let them razz you about your use of vinegar all they like. I love it too! (Thanks Heloise)

I thought maybe some of your readers might be interested in an inexpensive way to save work and improve the home decor at the same time.

Tablecloths for the breakfast table were an extra chore to launder. Plastic ones never lasted long enough and that became expensive. So . . . I purchased some adhesive-backed plastic in a maple wood grained pattern.

I used it to cover my table and—Heloise, it's the truth—my friends and even my husband, thought I had refinished the top of the table!

A damp cloth is all it takes now to be clean and pretty. Be sure the surface of the table is cleaned and smooth; sand it if necessary before laying the plastic on the table. Smooth it out carefully and press it tight, being sure that there are no loose edges. Good luck!

A READER

DEAR HELOISE: Rather than line your cutlery drawers with paper that shows every moisture or grease stain, try a dish towel folded to fit. Stains will be absorbed by the towel which can be shaken or washed when soiled. Terry cloth is good to use. Best of all it keeps things from sliding all over the drawer.

MRS. T. E. DAVIS.

DEAR HELOISE: I clean my can opener by putting it in an aluminum pan of warm water with a teaspoon of cream of tartar and boil for 20 minutes. This way I kill two birds with one stone by using an aluminum pan which has turned black. It comes out looking new.

I also use my baby stroller to help ease the job of hanging out clothes. It's wonderful as it scoots along fast. It's much handier than a child's wagon.

FREDA TOWNSEND.

DEAR HELOISE: Perhaps the ladies who do not want to mar their table tops with food choppers can do what I do:

I open my ironing board and attach my food chopper to it. It works just fine.

J.E.V.

DEAR HELOISE: Why not put a paper towel rack in the bathroom for the kiddies to dry their hands? Paper towels come in all colors today. Hence you can match your bathroom decor.

At least this type of towel can be thrown away and there will be no more stained hand towels from the little hands that were dried before ever being washed!

Teacher Trial In Flag Case Is Transferred

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — The trial of Arlie McCarth, a high school teacher charged with desecrating the American flag, will be transferred from Geauga County Court to Common Pleas Court.

County Court Judge Carl Hofstetter Tuesday granted a defense motion to move the case to the higher court.

McCarth, 39, says he stepped on the flag in a Kenston High School class to demonstrate the high degree of nationalism in this country during the Spanish-American War. He told the 12th grade class in social science he would have been arrested for such an act during the Spanish-American War.

'Western' Theme Due At West Point Festival

A "western" theme will be used for the annual spring festival at West Point School April 5, according to plans made Monday night at a meeting of the Parent - Teacher Association.

Chairmen appointed for the festival include: Mrs. Gale Williams, bake sale; Mr. and Mrs. William Conrad, games; Mrs. Ralph Cusick, talent show; Mrs. Dallas Rupp, country store, and Mrs. William Reynolds and Mrs. Leslie Frantz, kitchen.

Urban Petros, elementary supervisor, Mrs. Mary Steffen, principal, and Mrs. Virginia Campbell, teacher at West Point discussed continuing progress classes as a highlight of the program.

Mrs. Steffen's class won the attendance banner. Next meeting is April 15.

Firm Appears Headed For Liquidation

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Certified Credit Corp., with assets estimated at $40 million, apparently is headed for liquidation and will not have sufficient money to reimburse its shareholders, Atty. Gen. William Saxbe has told U.S. District Court.

Saxbe testified before U. S. District Court Judge Carl A. Weinman here Tuesday in an action filed by 22 stockholders seeking to place the big firm in receivership. Certified already has been placed in receivership by Franklin County Common Pleas Court at Columbus.

The attorney general said the action in Columbus was to protect the investments of about $6 million by the company's co-called thrift certificate purchasers in Ohio. There are an estimated 6,000 certificate holders in at least eight states, compared to 15,000 to 20,000 stockholders.

Saxbe estimated that assets of Certified, which involves more than 80 corporations in eight states, might be sufficient to reimburse creditors and certificate holders but that little would be left for stockholders.

Judge Weinman continued indefinitely a restraining order against Certified, prohibiting it from transferring or disposing of any of its assets. He said another hearing would be held to discuss receivership, but he set no date.

Certified has Ohio offices in Columbus, Cincinnati, Akron, Cuyahoga Falls, Newark, Dayton, Canton, Cleveland, Springfield, and Wapakoneta.

Truman Will Speak At Cincinnati Affair

CINCINNATI (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman is scheduled to visit Cincinnati April 30 to help celebrate Law Day.

Spokesmen for the Cincinnati Bar Association said the former Democratic chief executive will speak at a Law Day dinner and may then address a public rally in downtown Fountain Square.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Good Memory Won By Self-Discipline

Biographers of Sir Winston Churchill often refer to his feats of memory. Some of you may recall hearing many quotations from his speeches when he was guiding the government of Great Britain during the Second World War. He didn't read them. They all seemed to be said in a prompt. Dr. Garry Meyers But facts reveal that practically all of his utterances, which were repeated round the world and are still being repeated, were first written, then read over once or twice and remembered. But for his great memory and self-discipline at using it, he probably would be little known today. President Kennedy also has revealed similar memory exploits.

plain how he is able to recall in such great detail things he learned years ago and he only answers modestly, "I guess it just happens that way."

WE MUST ADMIT that some persons are born with an unusual memory, but not all of it is inherited. By accident or design, from mere chance experience or purpose and self-discipline, such memory exploits as those of Sir Winston Churchill, President Kennedy and Dr. Witty have come with disciplined practice at recall.

Some years ago I published a research, "Recall in Relation to Retention", in which I found, as anybody might guess, that memory of what one has learned by heart sticks longer the earlier and oftener it has been recalled without seeing or hearing the remembered material in the meanwhile.

What's worth remembering we wish our children would never forget. The earlier and more often they have occasion to recall what they have learned or memorized, the longer and more surely it will stick.

Good discipline for them and for ourselves is to have to recall early and often every useful thing they or we have learned.

Korea Political Parties To Fight Rule Extension

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Defying South Korea's military junta, two major political parties announced today they will launch a nationwide campaign to "fight to the death" against extension of military rule.

In a joint statement, the Civil Rule party led by ex-President Yun Po-sun and the Shinjung party of former Premier Huh Chung demanded that the junta leader, Gen. Chung Hee Park, withdraw immediately his proposal for a plebiscite to give his regime four more years of life. Huh Chung said earlier he had learned of moves by students to take to the streets as they did three years ago to oust President Syngman Rhee.

The joint party statement, which ignored Park's ban on political activity or criticism of his move, also demanded release of persons arrested for distributing leaflets attacking the general.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Homemaker Offers Grandchildren Legacy

The single question most frequently asked your dietitian is: "How in the world do you manage to write on the same subject with fresh enthusiasm?" It's you readers who provide the needed inspiration.

About the time I decide I've written the column long enough, along comes a batch of letters that quickens my spirit. Suddenly it's a privilege to wing my words your way.

Sharing is the strength and the heart of this column. In today's letter, a young mother (I call 37 young) reports that nutrition science has changed her life, helped her daughters and she hopes, her future grandchildren. Here is her letter:

"As a girl I had always been a good 20 pounds overweight. When I was growing up neither my parents nor I knew anything about the science of nutrition."

"WE THOUGHT the only way to lose weight was simply not to eat. My sister had trouble with her glands and was so overweight that I was considered normal."

"When I married I kept right on gaining. Until I weighed between 225 and 230 pounds for 5 feet 3 1/2. In February 1961, I decided to learn to eat properly and reduce."

"I studied everything I could find about nutrition. I have several books filled with your columns. Also, I cook by the book 'Stay Slim For Life' which you co-authored."

"My two daughters 12 and 14, while never as heavy as my sister and I had been, were still real chunky and not too happy about it. The older girl made a real effort to swing into new food habits and took to weighing regularly. The younger one, with a bit more prodding, decided to join her and get down to her healthy, happy weight."

"At first I found it real hard to refuse my child all the food she wanted to eat, but knowing she needed my help stiffened my resolve. Before too long protective eating became a habit for us all."

"I'm happy to report that my oldest daughter has a very nice figure now. The youngest is doing all right too, and as she grows she is thinning out. It is remarkable what confidence the girls have now."

"As for myself, I am down to 170 pounds. Losing is harder now. However, I can wear size 16 with an eased skirt. I exercise every morning. My husband who encouraged me, because he knew it would make me happy to weigh less, is very pleased. He is a bit worried about my trying to lose more."

"I have more energy, interest and vitality. Everyone says I've taken 10 years off my 37."

"I would like to help everyone who is overweight, man, woman and particularly children."

"I feel that by teaching my daughters the science of nutrition, I am in effect, giving my grandchildren-to-be a great legacy," she concluded.

THANK YOU for that wonderful letter. Please talk with your own doctor about holding the weightline at 150 pounds.

Tomorrow, more about the science of nutrition that worked the miracle.

Send a stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Police Arrest 5 After Violence In Labor Dispute

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Police kept a wary watch early today at the Production Plating Co. plant where a labor dispute resulted in violence early Tuesday.

Police arrested five persons, including a United Steelworkers Union organizer, and Common Pleas Court Judge Warren Young issued an order prohibiting the union from "committing acts of violence against workers at the plant or personal intimidation against their families."

Warren County sheriff's deputies were rushed to the plant Tuesday as strikers overturned a car, smashed plant windows and hurled rocks and pieces of concrete at the cars of men reporting to the early shift.

One man was struck on the head and treated at a Dayton hospital. Estimates of the number of workmen who crossed the picket lines varied. Milton Keimer of Indianapolis, president of the firm, said 20 persons crossed the lines.

Policemen said fewer than 10 did so.

Police braced for more trouble at 4 p. m. but only a few workers came to the plant and there was no violence.

WHAT'S A JOB WORTH?

If you ask Clyde Dawson who works in Midland's Forge Stock department, he can tell you — $40,000.

Crucible people at Midland operate a plant which cost more than $240 million to build and make ready for production. Supporting each employee is a $40,000 investment in plant, equipment and materials to make steel.

Who puts up the money?

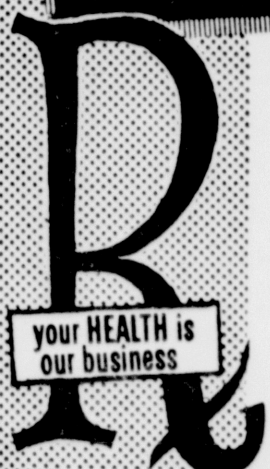

Shareholders who own the company. Without their investment we wouldn't have equipment, without equipment we couldn't produce steel. And needless to say, any equipment is worthless without people to use it to make products to meet customer demand. This is the round robin of interdependence necessary for corporate and personal success.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY
He's Asking For It!

Without meaning to do it, the American Humane Association has probably lit the fuse for another new trend in TV programming.

Charles W. Friedrichs, association president, was recently berating TV's Dode Review Board for not banning bullfights from our home screens. The fact that something is "accepted practice" in one or two countries, said the humane Friedrichs, is not sufficient grounds for showing it on TV in America.

Instead of quitting while he was ahead, Friedrichs decided to elaborate his point. He cited "the Japanese practice of both sexes bathing in the nude in concert" as not acceptable TV fare here, just because it was big in Japan.

Headshrinking, cannibalism, hangings, Paris' curbstome men's rooms and "nude girlie shows" were also listed by Friedrichs as traditional practices in certain lands, but this, he insisted, did not make them suitable for American TV.

RIGHT THERE Friedrichs blew his whole ball game. It will be very surprising to this veteran TV observer if in the next few weeks we aren't treated to watching Tom Lopaka of "Hawaiian Eye" raid a Japanese bath house where the proprietor is peddling hashish on the side.

What Friedrichs doesn't realize is that things like headshrinking and cannibalism aren't on TV only because nobody has thought of them.

For some reason, ideas have never been easy to come by in the TV industry. But, turn a writer or producer loose on Friedrichs' list, and we'll see some innovations.

Can't you imagine Perry Mason getting a mysterious call from a barber who is becoming suspicious because a fellow with a big family insists the barber cut his kids' hair at the house?

"Their heads are so small, and they never move or talk to me," the barber reports to Perry, who soon solves "The Case of the Little Old Headshrinker."

AND HOW MANY of you can wait to see Ed Sullivan introducing Zawba Wawba, "the first cannibal to visit these shores, on TV 'live' for another TV first!" Lay you 10-to-1 it will happen before the season is over.

The "nude girlie shows" Friedrichs referred to will be a natural for "Naked City," and Sam Benedict is a pinch to defend an itinerant Parisian who mistakes one of San Francisco's cable cars for one of his own sidewalk comfort stations.

And long after we've forgotten Senior Friedrichs and his bulls, TV's Code Review Board still will be feuding with the Committee for the Protection of Japanese Bathers (Mixed), who didn't want to be on American TV in the first place.

THE TV CODE Review Board may be wishy-washy about bullfighting, but it stands up to be counted where beer commercials are involved.

In its recent bulletin is this stern warning:

"Subscribers and advertising agencies are reminded that the on-camera consumption of beer is strictly verboten."

"Also barred are such visual techniques as lip-smacking, swallowing and wiping foam from the mouth—all giving a distinct impression that beer has just been drunk."

Now if we can only get rid of that "Little Ol' Winemaker, Me!" and his buddy who rides horseback through the vineyards, we'll have it made.

At Last, A Squaw

LOCKPORT, N. Y. — A wooden Indian which stood in front of a Lockport tobacco store for nearly 90 years — and now is in the Niagara County Historical Society's museum — finally has a square. Officials said another wooden statue, this one of an Indian princess, has been given to the museum by Miss Mary C. Holton of Denver, Colo., close friend of a Lockport family.

Peace Talks In High Gear At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Negotiations moved into high gear today in an effort to speed settlement of the strike that has blacked out Cleveland's two daily newspapers for 111 days.

A glimmer of optimism was injected as management and union officials expressed hopes for a quick settlement.

Thomas Vail, vice president of the Forest City Publishing Co., publisher of the morning Plain Dealer, said representatives attending a meeting Tuesday in Mayor Ralph S. Locher's office "all expressed great optimism that by holding marathon negotiating sessions we will be able to reach agreement."

Leaders of 11 unions, as well as management officials, attended that session.

Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the afternoon Press and News, commented: "I hope and believe the strike may be wrapped up within a week."

Vail said both the Photoengravers and the striking Printers Union, considered the major blocks to settlement of the prolonged dispute, expressed a desire to meet and come to agreement.

The emphasis is on those two unions as evening and weekend sessions were scheduled.

Five contracts remain to be negotiated. The Printers, Mailers and Machinists are on strike. The other two are the Photoengravers and the Operating Engineers.

Inventory Purchasing Of Steel Seen Lagging
NEW YORK (AP) — Inventory buying of steel is lagging behind that of last year, Iron Age, weekly magazine of the iron and steel industry, said today.

Last year, however, buying was spurred by talk of an impending steel strike. The same pressures to buy are not present this year, the publication said.

It said about 4 million tons of steel will be added to users' stocks in the second quarter, about the same rate of buildup as in the first quarter of 1962.

"Users are much more careful," Iron Age said. "They are not doubling their tonnages overnight."

Probe Continuing In Death Of Man
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Montgomery County police are continuing their investigation of the death of a 48-year-old man whose body was found on a street.

The coroner's office said the man, Charles Howard King, a Clinton County truck driver, may have died of natural causes or may have been the victim of a strong-arm robbery.

King's wallet was missing when his body was found Tuesday, and several persons in the neighborhood were being questioned. Homicide Sgt. A. Z. Zennie said.

King's skull was fractured, and his death was ruled as resulting from a hemorrhage. He also was known to have a heart condition. King was a driver for the Randall Trucking Co. of Wilmington and lived at Martinsville.

13,000 To 15,000 Transient Farm Hands Seen For Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some transient farm workers may come to Ohio earlier than usual this year, and there probably will be 13,000 to 15,000 during the peak season, the Governor's Committee on Migrant Labor has been advised.

James J. Byrne, chief of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation's farm placement division and a committee member, said in a seasonably cold weather, which affected some crops in the South, may result in a few migratory workers coming to Ohio early.

The total during the peak season probably will not be too far off the usual number, he indicated at Tuesday's meeting. But he added that it is not always easy to predict.

Gap Between Medicine, Rest Of Science Held Inefficient

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—There is a gap between medicine and the rest of science, and many say this gap is almost inefficient, the Second Air Force Bionics Symposium has been told.

The speaker was Dr. Lyle H. Peterson, professor of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania.

"Medical practice today is almost completely manual," Peterson said Tuesday. "The traditional medical courses given today do not prepare the student to understand the engineering world and its operations."

He continued:

"In this day of advance management techniques, little of it is seen in the hospitals."

"Our medical students take chemistry without mathematics, physics without mathematics and indeed mathematics without mathematics."

Peterson said he did not want to sound "anti-medicine" but in his remarks hoped to point up a problem situation that needs correction.

City Hospital And 4 In District Accredited

City Hospital and four other area hospitals are included in the 1963 list of accredited hospitals published by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals at Chicago.

The other institutions include Salem City Hospital, Salem Central Clinic, Weirton General Hospital and Rochester General Hospital.

Dr. Kenneth Hancock, commission director, said accreditation means the hospital has voluntarily submitted to a survey of its facilities and its patient care, and has met commission standards.

Junior Editors Quiz on FORESTS

QUESTION: How important are our forests?

ANSWER: Forests are not only important now, they have been vital to man in the whole course of his history. Cavemen depended upon wood for fires, for the clubs and bows they needed to hunt with. The forest gave wood for ships and made exploration possible. Most buildings have been built wholly or partially from wood.

Forests are especially important to us today because they help conserve our precious supply of water. In the woods, rain seeps down gently and is absorbed by the ground which has become rich in humus through rotting leaves. This prevents the disastrous runoff of rain which can cause the erosion of the land.

Picture (1) suggests how forested areas can hold water which can be backed up by dams to prevent floods and supply electric power. Picture (2) shows only three of the large number of forest products we use. And we shouldn't forget what the woods mean to us as suggested in the big picture: to give us all kinds of healthy fun and recreation outdoors, while providing cover and protection to wild animals we like to have sharing our world.

FOR YOU TO DO: The next time you are in a grove, see if you can walk noiselessly, like an Indian. Watch that you don't step on twigs which will snap loudly. Put your toe down first, then quietly lower the heel.

Geraldine Leute of Natchez, Miss., wins the weekly grand prize of a set of Britannica Junior Encyclopedias for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you may win a set too, or the daily grand prize of $10.

Today In History

Today In History
By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, March 20th, the 79th day of 1963. There are 286 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1922, President Warren Harding ordered the withdrawal of all American troops from Germany following World War I. Those who were concerned that the action might speed the rehabilitation of Germany following its defeat had their worst fears realized when, less than one year after Harding's action, Adolf Hitler began his rise to power that was to result in World War II.

On this day:
In 1602, the Dutch East India Co. was formed.
In 1815, the historic "Hundred Days" of Napoleon began.
In 1852, Harriet Beecher Stowe's immortal classic, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," was first published in book form.

In 1940, Edouard Daladier resigned as premier of France.
In 1945, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced that American forces had invaded the island of Panay in the Central Philippines during World War II.
Today's birthdays:
Television star Ozzie Nelson is 56. Actor Wendell Corey is 49.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I simply can't bring myself to discuss this with anyone else. Please tell me if you think I need professional help.

Yesterday I attended the meeting of an organization of which I am a board member. The women at the head table were given lovely corsages. Mine was especially beautiful.

When I arrived home I removed my corsage and carefully placed it on the shelf in the hall closet. Then I put my hat in the refrigerator. In a few seconds I realized what I had done and I was horrified.

What does this mean? Is it serious? Please tell me.—STRICTLY PERSONAL.

Dear Personal: All of us do such things once in a while. It means absolutely nothing except that for the moment we were absent-minded.

If you had left the hat in the refrigerator and tried to serve it with coffee—then you'd have given something to worry about.

The Whole Package

Dear Ann: I married a divorced man two years ago. I went with him almost four years before we were married, so I was well aware of his rotten family situation—his greedy, grasping wife and his ill-mannered children.

He paid through the nose for his divorce but it was the only way he could get it. His monthly alimony and support payments leave him with cigarette and gasoline money. We live on my salary.

Now he tells me his oldest daughter is having trouble with her mother. The girl has asked if she can come live with us. I don't want her. She's sloppy, bad tempered, sulen and lazy. Her presence in our home would create a problem.

When I tried to make this clear to my husband he cut me short with, "She's my daughter and I don't want to hear any criticism of her." Is this fair? What shall I do?—HIGH HURDLE.

Dear Hurdle: When you marry a divorced man you marry the total guy—his children, his splintered paycheck, his built-in memories, the nagging guilt and the roots elsewhere.

If you value your marriage you'd better agree to take his daughter in—then do your damndest to make a friend of her. Build bridges, Toots, not fences. If you don't you may be the one who lands on the outside.

Just The Beginning

Dear Ann: Please help me—and fast. Adelle, who is my fiancée, is going to be the guest of honor at a bridal shower next month. The party will take place at her maid of honor's house. There will be about 35 girls present.

Adelle wants me to drop in for a few minutes—just long enough to meet everybody and have a cup of coffee and a piece of cake. I'd rather jump into Lake Michigan and I can't swim.

Please tell me, Ann, is it proper for a man to attend a party of this kind? I've asked around the shop and not a single guy here has ever done it. I've promised to do as you say, so please think it over and have mercy.—LAMB TO SLAUGHTER.

Dear Lamb: If it means so much to Adelle—I say go. It's her way of showing you off to her girl friends.

This probably will be one of a long list of things you'll be doing to please her, even though it doesn't make any sense to you. If Adelle is a good wife she'll return the favor, time and time again. Welcome to the Club.

Confidentially

TO WORRIED PARENTS: Make a pedestrian out of this boy at once. He has demonstrated that he can't be trusted behind the wheel of a car. Tell him privileges entail responsibilities and he hasn't proved he can handle them.

TO YES OR NO: No. There are worst things in life than loneliness and if you marry this liar you'll find out what they are.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear friends,

We believe we are safe in saying that the public is less informed on funeral merchandise than on any other type of business. This is only natural, as the average family's needs for such information is not frequent, and it is a matter most desire to avoid.

We do believe, however, that it is to everyone's advantage to know more about modern funeral service. We welcome your visit to ask questions and secure information on the various phases of funeral service.

Respectfully,
